ITALY CABINET FALLS AS VOTE ON POPE OPENS

Parliament Honors to Benedict Halts.

ROME, Feb. 2.—[By the Associated Press.]—While the conclave of cardinals was opening the session for the election of a new pope the cabinet of Premier Bonomi, which took office early last July in succession to the Giolitti ministry, presented its resignation to the king this morning.

The king decided to resign when at a cabinet council this morning it developed that important groups in the chamber upon which the government had counted for support had passed over to the opposition because of objection to various of the government's policies, including official recognition of the death of Pope Benedict XV.

Premier Bonomi's reading of his resignation was received by the chamber in absolute silence. In the final event the government discovered itself abandoned by all the party groups.

Even the Catholics, who had been supporting the ministry throughout the crisis of the last few days, were alienated because of the failure of the cabinet to have a eulogy of the late Pope Benedict read from the tribune by President de Nicola of the chamber, as had been promised.

The president called the chamber to order promptly at 2:45 o'clock and read the minutes of the last session. Premier Bonomi, rising immediately afterwards, read the short, stereotyped declaration of resignation.

"Owing to the government finding itself no longer in the confidence of the chamber it has decided to withdraw."

Several of the Catholic deputies shouted: "What becomes of the eulogy of the pope which you promised?" Premier Bonomi did not reply, continuing to read the resignation.

Orlando May Reassign Lead. Speculation as to the successor of Bonomi in the premiership has brought forward the names of former Premiers Orlando, Giolitti, and Nitti and President de Nicola of the chamber of deputies.

The situation in the chamber is so unsettled that it was difficult for anyone to predict whom the king would summon to form a new cabinet.

The exit of the king from the ministry at the opening of the conclave for the election of a new pope created a sensation in Rome, diverting much popular attention from the activities of the Vatican.

EVELYN NESBIT, ONCE GAY LIFE LEADER, MISSING

New York, Feb. 2.—[United News.]—Evelyn Nesbit, once one of the leaders in the gilded life of New York, central figure in the killing of Stanford White by Harry Thaw, but more recently one of the tragic figures of Broadway, is missing, according to published reports here.

Some time back Miss Nesbit attempted suicide by taking an overdose of morphine. Four weeks ago she was evicted from the rooms in which she had been running a tea shop. After that she is said to have taken all of her remaining meager belongings, a trunk and a small handbag, and moved into a hall bedroom at Broadway and 53d street.

It is reported Miss Nesbit has not been seen, however, since shortly after taking this room.

MISQUOTED IN SMALL RULING, EDWARDS SAYS

Waukegan, Ill., Feb. 2.—[Special.]—Judge Claire C. Edwards tonight stated the misquoting of one word in the text of his ruling in granting to Vernon S. Curtis a separate trial and denying a similar motion in the case of Gov. Small changed the entire meaning of the ruling and made it appear he favored the defense.

The word "unfounded" was used instead of "unwarranted," Judge Edwards declared, the sentence referred to being: "This case is peculiar from the legal standpoint for the further reason that the grand jury when returned this indictment saw fit to make charges that are clearly unfounded and unauthorized and these charges have been spread broadcast."

Judge Edwards said that he used the word "unwarranted," not "unfounded."

Paralyzed Holdup Victim Talks at Last; Tips Police

On Nov. 8, 1921, Frank Krause, owner of a butcher shop at 1407 West 69th street, was held up by two men, one of whom shot him in the neck. As a result Krause was paralyzed in his left side and lost the power of speech. Two days ago he regained the ability to talk and phoned for detectives. Yesterday Edgar Ingwe, 19 years old, 6934 South Ada street was arrested as one of the bandits. Krause identified Ingwe.

First Convictions Made Under State Dry Act

The first conviction before a jury for violation of the Illinois prohibition act was reported yesterday when two janitors were fined $200 and costs after a jury had found them guilty in the jury court before Judge Howard Hayes.

The men are Ladislav Shuck, 900 East 62d street, and John Jine, 418 East 69th place, who were arrested with a gallon jug of liquor in their automobile.

PRINCETON SEES AUTOS HARMFUL TO CLASS WORK

Council Urges Simple Life for Students.

Princeton, N. J., Feb. 2.—President John Grier Hibben of Princeton university today sent out letters to parents and guardians of all students, pointing out that, far from being an asset to the academic equipment of undergraduates, an automobile was a "positive detriment."

President Hibben said the faculty was coming more and more to rely on the student body to maintain traditions and establish campus sentiment.

"The administration feels that no legislative action with regard to automobiles is advisable at the present time," the letter continued. "It believes, however, that it would be desirable, in the light of conditions in the country and in the world, if students at Princeton, during the formative periods of their lives, would realize the value to themselves and their fellow students of simplicity in living and of the elimination of unnecessary luxuries."

"It is the opinion of the senior council that a privately owned automobile is not only an unnecessary adjunct to an undergraduate's success at Princeton, but that, on the contrary, it often proves a positive detriment to the interest of the individual owner."

WORKERS' INTEREST IN JOBS LESS WHEN THEY ARE PARTNERS

Wakefield, Mass., Feb. 2.—The effort of the management of the Harvard knitting mills here to make their employees partners in the business has not been a success to date, Charles N. Winslip, head of Winslip, Blot & Co., owners, announces after a two year trial. In a printed report to the employees partners he said there has been a lack of cooperation to increase production and cut down waste, and said that 8 per cent of the product of the mills last week was sent back for repairs or thrown out.

President Winslip, pointing out that each employee had been given not only a cash interest in the business, but the right to a proportionate share of profits each year, said that unless conditions changed it would be necessary to give some of the employees partners permission to resign. He said there had been instances in which employees made elaborate attempts to be discharged so that they might draw out their interest in the firm. He estimated at 40 per cent the number of employees who were not cooperating.

The mills were said to be among the few in the country that had not reduced wages, notwithstanding no profits had been shown in the last two years.

A 20 per cent cut in wages is announced throughout the New England cotton mills district. In some cases an increase in working hours from forty-eight to fifty-four hours a week is announced.

COLORED MEN FLEE MAYWOOD U. S. HOSPITAL

A verbal altercation between several colored and white men, patients in the United States Edward H. Hines Jr. Memorial hospital at Maywood, resulted last night in six of the colored men packing their bags and leaving the hospital. They said they feared maltreatment.

After leaving the hospital the colored men spread exaggerated reports of the altercation and some one phoned the Chicago police a race riot was in progress.

What really occurred, says John H. Hayes, assistant executive officer in the hospital, was nothing more than a "loud mouthed quarrel" which did not result in blows.

A special board of inquiry will investigate the trouble today. It is pointed out that the colored men had the right to leave the hospital—they are under no military restraint—but their action may affect their compensation rights.

NEWSPAPERS NOT SO CRIME LADEN, IT SEEMS

One Popular Report Is Disputed.

BY EYE WITNESS.

"The newspapers print such a lot of crime! Isn't it terrible? Nothing but murders and scandals and horrors. You'd think that once in a while they'd like to put some of the pleasant side of life in the papers."

Lee A. White, one of the news and editorial executives of the Detroit News, had heard the foregoing so long and so often that he began to wonder and to doubt to doubt because he had learned that any prevalent whine is usually just cant; all the validity gone out of it.

So he organized a group of newspaper and university people, and he directed the group set itself to reading and tabulating for several weeks' various American newspapers. Some were large, some small. They represented widely separated areas.

Not So Much Crime.

Some would average 400 items of news and comment daily; some would average 1,100.

The result of the systematic reading and tabulating was, roughly, this:

Taking the group of papers by and large, the daily average of crime items and "other variations from the norm of decent American life" was—

This shocking, Mr. White said, was thorough, but it is better to say that the result of it was "roughly" what it was because the variety of newspapers was so extensive and their method of emphasizing the kinds of news so different. Sometimes the daily number of crime items would drop to thirty, sometimes rise to forty.

Cause of the "Whine."

Now, as to the cause of the prevalent whine that had prompted his investigation, Mr. White told the Medill School of Journalism last evening that it was the way the average newspaper reader reads a newspaper.

This is the way:

Column one, disarmament conference. The reader, "Disarmament conference, um, um, um, Japan, um, Hughes, Shantung, um." Finished.

Column two, Stillman case: No uma. Close attention. Occasional murmur of "Can you beat that?" One reader says he must scan column two because the case is a "sociological document." Another merely says it is "hot stuff." Both skip nary a word.

Column three, the farm bloc in congress: The reader, "Um-um, Well, I know what I think of farmers!" Finished.

Column four, murder: The reader, "Say, here's mystery in real life! Why, it's good as a novel!" No further sound from him for twelve minutes. Finished.

Column five, orchestra deficit. Orchestra must be saved: The reader, "Is that so? Well, let somebody save it then." Finished in three seconds.

Sleep, and Visions of Crime.

By that time the evening has begun to wane—Mr. White works for an evening paper—and the reader turns hurriedly to the sporting page. After that, having earned his rest, he sleeps, his thoughts disturbed, however, by the thought of what a lot of crime and scandal the papers print.

The breezy young executive's comment was: "People who read a newspaper that way are pretty sure to find in a newspaper what they read."

Another whine that gives him a yearning pain is the one he hears from "our best citizens," from university presidents and professors, and from leaders, self-appointed and otherwise, of the onward and upward league—

"Why don't you get out a paper like the Springfield Republican?"

But They Don't Buy It.

"Yes," said Mr. White, "ye. If all the college professors and all the 'better elements' that speak highly of the Springfield Republican—and who know nothing about it, either its format or its policies—ever bought it it would have not one of the smallest circulations in America (16,000) but one of the largest."

On that pungent paragraph we reluctantly say good-night to the caustic and cant dispelling Lee White.

No—this ought to get in the paper—what he said about "comics":

"Newspaper men loathe them and don't know to this day whether they are printed for children or adults. My own suspicion is that we print them for the more mature children and the more childish adults."

Good-by, Lee; take care of yourself.

Judges Band for Fight on Gun Traffic

Concerted action by all judges of Appellate, Criminal, Circuit, and Superior courts in Chicago toward the drafting and enactment of legislation to suppress the existing traffic in guns was assured last night through the appointment of committees for that purpose.

These committees are instructed to confer with officials of the bar associations, public officers and others for the purpose of having passed "such legislation as will bring about the prohibition of the manufacture, transportation, and sale of pistols, revolvers, and other like concealable weapons."

Judges Hugo M. Friend, John A. Swanson, and George Kersten will represent the Circuit court. Judges William H. McSurley, John M. O'Connor, and Michael L. McKinley will represent the Superior court.

Start Investigation at Once.

An investigation of existing laws governing the sale, transportation, and possession of firearms, and the possibility of prosecutions under existing criminal statutes will be started at once, it was announced.

In a resolution introduced by Judge Charles M. Thomson adopted at the monthly luncheon of the Circuit court, judges at the Hotel La Salle yesterday introduced by Senator Shields of Tennessee a new pending in the United States senate is highly commended.

The judges add, "further, that whatever is possible . . . to have similar legislation undertaken in this and other states."

A meeting of the committees to discuss the matter is planned for today.

Criminals Still Active.

Bandits staged their usual nightly shooting affair in Chicago last night. The victim was William Ulrich, 55, 2611 Haddon avenue, a driver employed by Arnold Bros., dealers in wholesale meats. Six months ago Ulrich was held up by two men. He ran away from them. Last night the same two jumped on his truck. "Damn you—you got away from us last time—we'll get you now!" the leader cried—and fired. One bullet struck Ulrich in the abdomen; the second his right arm.

The robbers fled without attempting to take the $180 the wounded man had.

A holdup of a messenger for the South Side Trust and Savings bank of a pay roll of $600 was frustrated when Policeman John Nichols saw two men approaching Barnes and ran up, ordered them to halt, and searched them. Both had guns. They gave their names as Stanley Lucas, 2532 Keeley street, and William Hawes, 3027 Bonfield avenue. They were jailed.

The MacLeans Hear Shots.

A little later Douglas MacLean, moving picture man, who lives next door to the Taylor home, heard what resembled a pistol shot, but as there was no other confusion, he did not investigate. Mrs. MacLean also heard the shot.

Toward midnight Miss Edna Purviance, leading woman for Charlie Chaplin, who lived on the other side of the Taylor residence from the MacLeans, noticed, as she was returning home, that all of the lights in the house were burning.

Being an old friend of the Creator, she planned to stop for a moment for a good night chat. Repeated ringing of the front door bell failed to get a response and Miss Purviance went to her own home, thinking Mr. Taylor was out for the evening and that he had forgotten to snap off the lights before leaving.

Was Instantly Killed.

That was all that the friends and neighbors of the director, so far as reported, noticed last night. The servant, Henry Peavey, returning to the house this morning, found Mr. Taylor's body lying on the floor. Apparently he had been instantly killed. All of the lights in the house were still blazing.

Following this the neighbors remem-

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 2.—The murder of William Desmond Taylor tonight remains as deep a mystery as was ever written into the scenarios of the moving picture stories he produced. The film world hereabouts is filled with grief and consternation.

Taylor, actor, engineer, a Klondike gold hunter, and world war soldier, and more lately director in chief for the Famous Players-Lasky corporation, this morning was found shot to death in the study of his luxurious home in the center of the moving picture colony in Alhambra street. He had been killed by a single shot which penetrated the breast.

One Theory Is "Jealousy."

All that the police have been able to do is to try to reconstruct from circumstantial evidence the scenes of last night. They are considering these theories:

1. That a discarded suitor of some woman friendly to Taylor did the shooting.

2. That the murder was committed by a former servant he had caused to be arrested, and who was said to have threatened his life.

3. That it was done by a burglar who was surprised by Taylor's sudden entrance.

4. That a woman who for some unknown reason had become enraged at him did the shooting.

Stranger Lay in Wait?

Certain things point to the theory that the slaying was planned in advance. Shortly before the hour that the murder is supposed to have taken place a stranger stopped at a service station in the neighborhood and asked where he could find the Taylor residence. He was described as being 5 feet 9 or 10 inches tall, of medium build, and roughly but not shabbily dressed in dark clothes. This description fits a man seen before Mr. Taylor's home about the hour the tragedy is supposed to have taken place.

In a secluded spot, from which the inside of the room in which Mr. Taylor was shot was visible, there were cigar stumps and numbers of footprints, as if some one had waited there, biding their time for a chance to slip in when Mr. Taylor would be

COUNCIL TILTS MAYOR'S BUDGET BY ONE MILLION

Move Called "Cheap Economy Bluff."

Mayor Thompson yesterday attempted to "pull the wool" over the eyes of the council by a "cheap economy" move, and when the council met to consider his budget, it was discovered that the city budget, almost ready for passage, had been wrecked.

The mayor attempted to buy fame as an economist for $2,500—some who give the benefit of meaning something he did not say make the figure $13,969. The total of the budget is near $40,000,000.

Committee Hits Warpath.

Characterizing the Mayor's "economy" announcement as a "cheap bluff," the council committee went on the warpath and ordered the Mayor to show the council what the economy is and in order that the taxpayers may have something to show the Mayor what the economy is and in order that the taxpayers may have something to show the Mayor what the economy is.

Weeks Behind Time.

Apparently made no difference to the Mayor that the budget had already been approved by the committee. To be effective his "strong argument" should have come weeks ago. The Mayor, amidst applause of the council, declared that Chicagoans get more in the way of good government for every dollar expended than any city in the world. Then he declared:

"The way to economize is to economize," and proceeded to recommend that the department heads withdraw their requests for pay boosts. But no department heads were given pay boosts. However, one deputy, William Burkhardt, the Mayor's brother-in-law and second in command of the department of public works, got a pay increase from $5,000 to $7,500, which was promptly criticized on the council floor by Ald. T. O. Wallace.

Call "Economy Bluff."

Thus the members of the finance committee, who have been working for seven weeks trying to get the Mayor's "economy bluff" would, approved, save the city $2,500.

A newspaper man carried the Mayor's statement to the finance committee. Then came the storm, and L. B. Anderson, the Mayor's floor leader, vainly endeavoring to ward off the storm.

"It's a drop in the bucket," declared Ald. Burkhardt, if it is considered, it will save $2,500 out of $40,000,000," said Ald. Burkhardt. "If all individual pay boosts are considered, it would save $2,500."

"It's a cheap piece of fourflushing," declared Ald. Maypole.

"It's real economy, real retrenchment!" shouted Ald. Anderson, the Mayor's council leader.

Oxygen for Dead Men.

It is common talk that if the policeman and firemen are given a raise, the Mayor will not veto it," declared Ald. Burkhardt.

The Mayor's administration has spent its time and time again to appropriate for the city's needs and to pay no attention to revenue," said Ald. Burkhardt. "That's why the city was loaded with an $8,000,000 bond issue. The galleries are packed with city employees controlled by the Mayor, asking for increases. The Mayor is a doctor bringing oxygen to a funeral."

Ald. L. B. Anderson set up a program for the adoption of the Mayor's economy program.

"All right," said Ald. Kostner, taking Anderson at his word. "Call the Mayor down here and we can cut the economy program."

GIVING 'EM "FAIR WARNING"

Sheriff Peters yesterday gave the guards at the county jail "fair warning" that he has given Capt. Wesley Westbrook, new jailer, carte blanche to run the place and would back him in any recommendation he should make regarding the dismissal of any guard found to be crooked. He told 'em so when they assembled for change of shift yesterday. Capt. Westbrook is standing at the extreme left, the sheriff next to him, and former jailer Peter C. Lawrence, now assistant jailer, third from the left.

THREE ARRESTED AS SLAYERS OF NORTH SHORE COP

"Lovers Lane" bandits, said to be responsible for more than thirty highway robberies in the road outside of Evanston, yesterday were lodged in jail for the alleged murder, Jan. 13, of William Pederson, Winthrop Harbor motorcycle policeman, near Waukegan, Ill.

Pederson was shot to death while speeding at 70 miles an hour on his motorcycle in pursuit of an automobile in which five men were riding. Three of the alleged five bandits arrested yesterday are Jacob Steinbuck, 1824 Church street, Evanston; Robert Poser, 6587 Lakewood avenue, Chicago, and Thomas Hebron, 1828 Florence avenue, Evanston.

A nation wide search has been instituted for the other two, Wilbur Roy Moore, 1906 Colfax avenue, Evanston, and Theodore "Svedo" Wallgren, 1907 Noyes street, Evanston.

Warrants charging the five with the murder were issued by State's Attorney A. V. Smith of Lake county.

$20,000,000 or twice that from the budget.

"You don't want to retrench?" Anderson bantered.

"We have a specific recommendation for the saving of $2,500 from the budget," said Ald. Woodhull.

"Let's show the Mayor what real economy means."

Schwartz's motion that the committee recall the budget from the council and order the Mayor to show the council what the economy is, was accordingly swept through the committee.

Ald. Burkhardt was empowered to make the motion sending the budget back to the finance committee for the pruning operation when the council meets at 11 a. m. to take up its consideration.

Thus the Mayor's economy program, declared by Ald. Adamowski to be "a cheap piece of fourflushing after the fact," has spent nearly seven years in a trance, it has turned the 1922 appropriation ordinance topsy-turvy.

To Reconsider Pay Boosts.

Before adjourning the committee passed a motion, wiping out all increases granted to city employees now receiving $3,000 or more a year. This rescinds pay boosts granted to about thirty individuals, including Mr. Burkhardt, First Deputy Alcock, Assistant Health Commissioner Koehler, John F. Cullerton, business manager of the fire department, Chief of Detectives Michael Hughes and others.

In a separate resolution the committee directed Mayor Thompson to order his department heads to submit revised estimates of the departmental expenses, so that the $1,200,000 reduction "may be made in a manner best conforming to the city's interests and with the cooperation of the department heads."

NO QUARTER FOR CROOKED GUARDS, PETERS' WARNING

"I'm Back of Westbrook," He Tells 'Em.

"If there is a crooked guard left among you is going to go. I have given Capt. Westbrook carte blanche here and if he recommends the dismissal of one or all of you I am going to act on his recommendation. And I am giving you fair warning not to come to my office with your troubles or send your political friends there. It will do you no good. From now on neither excuses nor political pull counts."

This warning was given yesterday by Sheriff Charles W. Peters to the guards at the county jail as they lined up for the change of shifts at 4 o'clock. At the sheriff's side stood Capt. Wesley H. Westbrook, who assumed charge as the new jailer at 11 o'clock.

Starts with Clean Slate.

"I am starting with a clean slate in regard to you men," said Capt. Westbrook. "I am not going to prejudice you. I'll fight for every man of you as long as you are clean and straight and efficient. But I won't tolerate crookedness or inefficiency for a moment."

Lawrence Remains.

Former Jailer Peter C. Lawrence will remain as first assistant jailer, it was announced. At the same time Sheriff Peters made public a communication which he sent recently to the county board requesting the erection of sheet iron screens in the jail, the installation of an electric signal system and the remodeling of the brick wall at the rear of the jail yard over which "Tommy" O'Connor climbed to freedom.

FRANCE ADMITS WILLINGNESS TO MEET RUSSIANS

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS, Feb. 2.—The resignation of Premier Bonomi of Italy makes almost certain the postponement of the Genoa conference, as the next Italian cabinet must recommence negotiations with the powers invited, and if certain of the candidates for premier are appointed Rome's attitude toward the meeting may be changed.

Premier Poincare, in a statement to day, said:

"It was unnecessary to accept the invitation to Genoa again because France was one of the powers represented at Cannes, which arranged the meeting."

Thus the controversy as to whether France will negotiate with the Germans and Bolsheviks has been ended officially with the assurance that it will take part.

ARBuckle HAS LOST HOPE OF AN ACQUITTAL

Jury Room Reports Vary Widely.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 2.—[Special.]—Roscoe Arbuckle has given up the hope of clearing himself in the eyes of the world.

The jury trying him for manslaughter in the death of Virginia Rappe is still out, deadlocked, and the hope he had that it might agree on a verdict has died. At 9:30 p. m. the jury was locked up for the night. It will resume deliberations at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

Jury Out Thirty Hours.

More than thirty hours have passed since the eleven men and the woman tried out of Judge Louderback's court, and although all sorts of rumors have trickled out of the jury room there has not been one authentic report. It is said they are eleven to one for acquittal, seven to five for acquittal, seven to five for conviction, ten to two for conviction.

The nervous strain affects everybody in the courtroom. Arbuckle broke under last night, weakened, called for a doctor, but he is full of fun today. He would be glad to hear any kind of a verdict, he acknowledges, even an adverse to him. It would be something. It would be final. It would put an end to the long stretch of waiting and wondering and speculating and worrying.

Disagreement Harmful to "Fatty."

A disagreement may mean a new trial, though it is probable that District Attorney Matthew Brady will nolle the case rather than try it again. A disagreement will mean, anyway, that Arbuckle will never be "Fatty" again. And that, says "Fatty's" wife, will hurt him more than years in San Quentin.

FIGHT FOR LANDIS AWARD RECEIVES CONTRACTORS' O.K.

The "no compromise" platform of the citizens' committee to enforce the Landis award with respect to the ten building trades unions which have abrogated their Landis award contracts, was endorsed yesterday at a meeting of the board of directors of the Associated Builders of Chicago and the Building Construction Employers' association.

It was reported yesterday that the plumbers will return to work to day on several contracts which were made prior to the Landis award and call for a wage rate of $1.10 an hour. When this work is finished the plumbers, it is said, will accept the $1.02 1/2 rate as provided by the Landis award.

Representatives of the thirty-two unions affiliated with the Building Trades council will meet tonight to discuss the Landis award. It is said the council will vote unanimously to accept it.

DANCE MASTERS RATE FLAPPERS' STANDARDS LOW

Don't Want Students on Public Floors.

Parents of high school students need not worry over the peril of their morals being contaminated by associations they made in public dance halls.

But the dance hall manager has to worry for fear the moral standards of his patrons should be lowered by the admission of high school students.

This was the statement with which Miss Jessie Binford of the Juvenile Protective association yesterday startled parents and teachers gathered at the Chicago Woman's club for the annual parent-teacher's conference.

Some one had suggested that means should be taken to keep the high school students away from the dance halls and suggested seeing the managers about it.

Managers Don't Want 'Em.

"They don't want them," declared Miss Binford of the Juvenile Protective association. "In their opinion the average patron of their halls has higher moral standards than the modern high school boy or girl."

"I don't say it's true," continued Miss Binford, "but it is what many of the managers think. I'll tell you how I know. On Feb. 17, the association is going to give a benefit dance at Dreamland dance hall. We are going to make it 'Clean Dance' night. All the correct forms of dancing will be danced in exhibitions. Correct holds will be taught and some music will be played."

"When I was preparing for the event I thought it would be a good plan to invite high school students in so they could see how the dances should be danced. I wasn't sure it would be a good idea to start the students to coming to the halls so I broached the matter to one of the managers. His reply was, 'Don't ask them, they will give us reasons.'"

Must Mend Our Morals.

Miss Binford was one of four speakers on the morals of this "decadent age." Others were Supt. Peter Zortzen, Mrs. Charles E. Merriam and Miss Martha Bishop, a district superintendent. All agreed that the morals of today must be uplifted.

"We talk of uplifting the moral standards of high school students," said Miss Bishop, "but the facts are that we never will uplift them until we mend the morals of the public. The teachers and the parents must raise their standards if we expect improvement in the children. We would children for shooting craps in the school and when they come home they find their parents selling chances for a raffle. That's wrong."

Mrs. Merriam advised parents to select the motion picture plays that their children see as carefully as they select the food that goes on the table.

PLOT CHARGES CAUSE DIVORCE CASE REOPENING

Rich Briton's Marriage Is Imperiled by Order.

An order, issued yesterday by Superior Judge Charles A. McDonald, reopening the divorce case in which a divorce was obtained by James Robert Pope, wealthy Englishman, from Mrs. Cecil A. Pope last November, endangers Pope's subsequent marriage on Dec. 19 to Maud Allen, 4903 St. Anthony court, with whom he is now living at 999 Bush street, San Francisco, Cal.

Affidavits presented by Attorney Fred W. Bentley alleged fraud had been practiced upon the court when the divorce was granted. It was alleged that through a conspiracy Mrs. Pope was kept in ignorance of the date of the hearing.

Some Charges Made.

It was also charged that Pope presented false testimony, that other witnesses committed perjury, that important court papers were missing, and that two pages of written testimony had been abstracted from the files and two sheets bearing different testimony substituted.

In granting the petition Judge McDonald said:

"I will not hear the case, however, I have received too many threats and have been constantly annoyed by phone calls and letters. If I were certain that Mrs. Pope was mentally sound I would hold her in contempt of court."

The order does not vacate the divorce, but it holds it in abeyance and permits Mr. Pope to contest it on her cross bill, which, if decided in her favor, would set aside Pope's divorce and nullify his present marriage.

Claims Alimony Unpaid.

The Pope divorce was begun in 1918. Pope was then a resident of the Illinois Athletic club and his wife lived at 5401 Broadway. She was awarded temporary alimony of $100 per month, which she claims was never paid, and that therefore she was unable through lack of funds to finance her litigation.

Her attorneys dropped the case without giving her notice it was to come up on Nov. 14 last, she claims. Pope was then purged of the contempt charge, an outcome of his noncompliance with the temporary alimony order, her affidavit alleged.

Mrs. Pope's petition averred her husband had reduced her to absolute poverty, and it was only through the charity of Mrs. Ida Statten, an attorney, and the aid of the Chicago Bar association that she was enabled to initiate the action which brought about yesterday's order.

MCKINLEY ASKS SENATE TO BREAK BARRIER TO SEA

Appeals for St. Lawrence Waterway.

BY GRAFTON WILCOX.
Washington, D. C., Feb. 2.—(Special.)—Senator William B. McKinley of Illinois appealed to the senate today to break bonds on the "landlocked middle west" with construction of the St. Lawrence waterway recommended by the international joint commission.

The Illinois senator demonstrated the necessity of this outlet to the sea for the industries of the midwest and declared the whole transportation system of the country must be reorganized with the projected waterway as a key.

The New York barge canal, Senator McKinley declared to be inadequate.

Roads' Inadequacy Established.

"For fifteen years the growing inadequacy of railway transportation for moving the product of a continent has been apparent," Mr. McKinley said. "The breakdown of the machinery of transportation in 1920, following the strain of the war period, was not a new phenomenon, but an accentuation of a situation that had existed for years during every season of crop movements. The necessary increase in railroad rates still further emphasized the need. In order to establish rates which would enable the railroads to live it was necessary to adopt schedules which would not permit the traffic to move. The country has come to an impossible situation, which cripples the industrial life and the productive power of the nation."

"It is a situation that can be cured only by reshaping the national transportation structure so that from every producing section, by a relatively short rail haul, products may be carried to the universal water base."

Barge Canal Falls Far Short.

Senator McKinley referred to efforts of New York and New England interests to block the St. Lawrence project and sought to demonstrate the futility of the argument that the New York barge canal project could meet the demand.

"The capacity of the barge canal, as estimated by its friends, is 10,000,000 tons a year in each direction," he said. "The movement from the middle west to the seaboard is about 200,000,000 tons in what we may consider a normal movement. The barge canal at its utmost capacity cannot in any large way meet this situation."

Rail Workers Petition for Saturday Holiday

A petition requesting that a recent order issued by officials canceling half holidays on Saturdays in the general offices of the Chicago and Northwestern railway be rescinded will be presented today to President W. H. Finley, it was announced by H. F. Gay, 1462 Argyle street, of the engineering department. The petition asserts the Saturday afternoon closing observance has been effective since world's fair days and to abolish it would "create dissatisfaction and discontent and sap the morale" of employees.

Fights for Rights

MRS. MARGARET ERICKSON, 29 year old bride, called her parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Erickson of Wilmette, "Indian givers" when her husband, Howard Erickson, told Judge Charles A. McDonald yesterday he could not pay his wife temporary alimony because he had to pay for wedding presents his parents gave them.

They were married a year ago and two months later the young husband left her. His parents repaid what Mrs. Erickson says were wedding gifts that furnished their bungalow. They are seeking to have the marriage annulled and allege the furniture was only loaned to the young couple.

Mrs. Erickson retailed with a $25,000 allegation of affectionate suit against her parents-in-law and a petition for divorce and alimony.

UNDERWOOD WILL URGE DEMOCRATS TO BACK TREATIES

Cockran Fights Naval Pact
in the House.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., Feb. 2.—(Special.)—In an effort to ally opposition to the Pacific trade treaties, Senator Underwood of Alabama, Democratic leader in the senate, let it be known today that immediately after the armament conference adjourns he will call an informal conference of Democratic senators and endeavor to explain all disputed points in the various pacts.

Mr. Underwood's qualities of leadership will be put to a severe test, it is generally conceded, but he has every confidence that he will be able to swing a sufficient number of Democratic senators into line to assure prompt ratification of the various treaties. He will make no effort to bind senators to united party action, but will urge them as individuals to support the treaties.

Rising to a question of privilege in the house today, Representative Bourke Cockran of New York, Democrat, challenged the power and jurisdiction of the arms conference and the administrative branch of the government to bind the nation by treaty regarding the size of its military establishment.

JAPAN IS READY TO RELEASE MORE CLAIMS ON CHINA

Shidehara Outlines
Tokio's Stand.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 2.—(Special.)—Japan, through Baron Shidehara, announced at the meeting of the far eastern committee of the Washington conference today that group five of the twenty-one demands upon China would not be pressed, declared that Japan could not recognize the right of China to challenge validity of the treaty of 1915 solemnly entered into as a result of the twenty-one demands, and asserted that Japan had no intention to insist on preferential rights in South Manchuria and eastern Mongolia.

Tells What Japan Offers.

After outlining the Japanese position holding that review of action under the twenty-one demands was not a matter for this conference, Baron Shidehara said:

"Having in view, however, the changes which have taken place in the situation since the conclusion of the Sino-Japanese treaties and notes of 1915, the Japanese delegation is happy to avail itself of the present occasion to make the following declaration:

"1. Japan is ready to throw open to the joint activity of the international financial consortium, recently organized, the right of option granted exclusively in favor of Japanese capital.

Won't Insist on Rights.

"2. Japan has no intention of insisting on her preferential right under the Sino-Japanese arrangements in question concerning the engagement by China of Japanese advisers or instructors on political, financial, military, or police matters in South Manchuria.

"3. Japan is further ready to withdraw the reservation which she made in proceeding to the signature of the Sino-Japanese treaties and notes of 1915 to the effect that group 5 of the original proposals of the Japanese government would be postponed for future negotiations."

LLOYD GEORGE'S ENEMIES GATHER NEW STRENGTH

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
LONDON, Feb. 2.—Prime Minister Lloyd George was received this morning by King George, who approved the draft of the speech from the throne for the opening of parliament next week. The speech, which is an outline of the government's policy, will deal with Irish legislation, public economy, and the reform of the house of lords. So far as known, Lloyd will not be mentioned, as no plan can be made before Lord Allenby reports. Labor leaders are angry because of Lord Birkenhead's attack yesterday.

They are planning a campaign in which they will attack the coalition and all its works. Lord Grey also is beginning to campaign, and he has now been definitely recognized as the leader of the anti-government forces. It is likely that the coalition may lose a few conservative members of parliament who are tired of the dominance of liberal leaders over the party of whom the majority are conservatives. Gideon Murray, the son of Lord Elibank, already has announced that he will secede from the coalition.

ULSTER CLASH WITH FREE STATE ON BOUNDARY

Collins Demands

Areas of North

BY PAUL WILLIAM

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
DUBLIN, Feb. 2.—The Irish State is on the verge of an open boundary question.

The crisis developed this afternoon at the resumption of the negotiations which began so auspiciously in London between Sir James Craig and Collins. At the end of a three-hour conference the Ulster government head of the provisional Irish government found themselves uttering on the problem of readjusting the line. Collins insisted on a rating in the southern government comparatively large areas which were regarded as absolutely vital to the existence of the north.

I learned from an authoritative source that the provincial government plans to use every agency to the north to yield on this issue. It hesitates to reestablish the line against Belfast, which was won only a few days ago, and to renege on the promise to cooperate in operating the railways. The southern government is confident that they have it in their power to render the Ulster government most important.

Good Will Vanishes.

The good will which has been developing appreciably during the ten days disappeared in a few minutes and hostility which has resulted in the resumption of hostilities. There is a possibility that the who disagreed this afternoon brought together again before leaving Collins. Craig went to the defense of the lord lieutenant, Fitzalan, who may use his offices. After talking to Lord Craig left for London to confer with the British government on the machinery of government in Ireland and probably also to Lloyd George concerning the construction of the Irish treaty boundary dispute.

Here is Statement.

At the close of the Craig-Collins conference the following brief but significant statement was issued: "Owing to the fact of Mr. stand on the boundary commission the Irish delegation's agreement with Mr. Lloyd George concerning large territories were involved commission and not merely the any line, as Sir James Craig was to understand privately by British ministers, and from a by Mr. Lloyd George in the commons, no further agreement reached and a very serious consequence has arisen." Collins contended that if the clause on the boundary were into effect according to the will of the people the counties of Tyrone, Fermanagh and large portions of counties of Armagh, Derry, and would be included in the free state because the inhabitants are Catholic Nationalists, and they prefer to the south. The only county controlled by the Ulster government Collins made no claim was Antrim.

Would Exhaust Ulster.

It seems generally agreed that acquisition of this territory south would so weaken the state that Ulster would not be sustain a parliament.

Craig said to his people a few ago:

"I will never given in to a rearrangement of the boundary leaves our Ulster any less than the government of Ireland acts."

He expressed a willingness to take small districts along the border, but he regards the surrender any such portion as the south as the surrender of Ulster itself.

ULSTER CLASHES WITH FREE STATE ON BOUNDARIES

Collins Demands Large Areas of North.

BY PAUL WILLIAMS.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright, 1922, by The Chicago Tribune.)
DUBLIN, Feb. 2.—The Irish Free State is on the verge of an open break with the Ulster government over the boundary question.

The crisis developed this afternoon at the resumption of the negotiations which began so auspiciously in London between Sir James Craig and Michael Collins. At the end of a three-hour conference the Ulster premier and the head of the provisional Irish government found themselves utterly apart on the problem of readjusting the border line. Collins insisted on incorporating in the southern government comparatively large areas which had been regarded as absolutely vital to the existence of the north.

I learned from an authoritative source that the provincial government plans to use every agency to compel the north to yield on the issue. The southern leaders seem content to let the Ulster government do the heavy lifting, which was removed only a few days ago, and to refuse to cooperate in operating the railway, telephone, and other government services that they have in their power to render the Ulster government almost impotent.

Good Will Vanishes.

The good will which has been developing appreciably during the last ten days disappeared in a few hours. It has been replaced by the old suspicions and hostility which may even result in the resumption of hostilities.

There is a possibility that the leaders who disagreed this afternoon may be brought together again before a bad situation has time to develop. After leaving Collins, Craig went to the residence of the lord lieutenant, Lord Fitzalan, who may use his friendly offices. After talking to Lord Fitzalan, Craig left for London to confer with the British government on turning over the machinery of government to Ireland and probably also to see Mr. Lloyd George concerning the British construction of the Irish treaty on the boundary dispute.

Here Is Statement.

At the close of the Craig-Collins conference the following brief but significant statement was issued:

"Owing to the fact of Mr. Collins' stand on the boundary commission and the Irish delegation's agreement with Prime Minister Lloyd George that large territories were involved in the commission and not merely the boundary line, as Sir James Craig was given to understand privately by several British ministers, and from statements by Mr. Lloyd George in the house of commons, no further agreement was reached and a very serious situation consequently has arisen."

Collins contended that if the treaty clause on the boundary were carried into effect according to the wishes of the people of the counties of Tyrone and Fermanagh and large portions of the counties of Armagh, Derry, and Down would be included in the free state because the inhabitants are Catholics and Nationalists and they prefer to be with the south. The only county controlled by the Ulster government to which Collins made no claim was Antrim.

Would Exhaust Ulster.

It seems generally agreed that the acquisition of this territory by the south would so weaken the northern state that Ulster would not be able to sustain a parliament.

Craig said to his people a few days ago:

"I will never give in to any rearrangement of the boundary which leaves our Ulster area less than under the government of Ireland acts."

He expressed a willingness to give and take small districts along the border, but he regards the surrender of any such portion as the south wants as the surrender of Ulster itself.

Ireland's First Lady?

Countess of Granard and her daughter, Lady Eileen.

DUBLIN, Feb. 2.—An American woman may be the first lady of the land in the Irish Free State. In the speculation regarding the first governor general, the name of the Earl of Granard appears most often. His wife, the daughter of Ogden Mills, an American, is very wealthy and her relatives are said to be ready to finance the Free State. The earl is a Catholic and is living on his estate at Longford, three miles from Ballywilliam. He has frequently and openly expressed his sympathy for the Irish Nationalist movement, describing himself as a "moderate Sinn Féiner."

HEIRS TO ESTATE OF $12,000,000 FIGHT LOUIS HILL

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 2.—Reading of deposition by Mrs. Ruth Hill Beard of New York occupied most of the session late today in Probate court in the contest over the appointment of an executor for the $12,000,000 estate of the late Mrs. Mary T. Hill, widow of James J. Hill, "empire builder."

Louis W. Hill, chairman of the Great Northern railway, has asked that he be named executor. A majority of the Hill children oppose his selection. Involved in the controversy, it was declared, is the control by the Hill family of the block of stock in the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, which is said to be the balance of power in the event of any contention between the groups back of the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern.

DEMOCRATS PICK COUNTY SLATE; DISCORD FADES

Mrs. L. Z. Meder Is Only Woman on Ticket.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Upsetting a number of predictions that their sessions would break up in a row, the Democratic county slate committee last night not only produced a complete ticket, but one that brought harmony with two or three factions that had threatened to start independent campaigns.

There were no surprises in the list County Clerk Switzer, County Treasurer Carr, Probate Judge Horner, and County Superintendent of Schools Tobin were endorsed for renomination. For the "county" judgeship Edmund K. Jarecki, former alderman and former Municipal court judge, was selected. The presidency of the county board went to Anton J. Cermak, Daniel Ryan, the present president, being "demoted" to a mere membership place, because of his alliance with Thompsonism. For sheriff James M. Dailly, chairman of the county committee, was named.

Only one woman—Mrs. Leonora Z. Meder, former commissioner of public welfare, named for a place on the municipal bench—was included on the ticket. The ticket covers the Municipal court places, including the six new judgeships the city council is expected to provide for in the budget.

NEW TROUBLE IN IRELAND

A conference, led by Sir James Craig, prime minister of Ulster, and Michael Collins of the Irish Free State, was held yesterday in Dublin to determine the boundary of Ulster. The six counties of Antrim, Armagh, Down, Fermanagh, Londonderry, and Tyrone at present constitute Ulster. They are shown on the map by a heavy line. The counties of Donegal, Cavan, and Monaghan broke away from Ulster at the beginning of the Sinn Féin movement.

The Dublin conference reached an impasse when Collins demanded large areas of the Ulster counties, under the provisions of the Anglo-Irish treaty.

HE WAS SO DRY HE WENT WET; A VOTE "NIPPED" IN THE BUD

Two Chicagoans who spent Wednesday in Springfield brought back with them last night the story of "the saddest man in Illinois."

His was the fifty-second vote, the vote counted on to give the necessary majority in the constitutional convention to the downstate group advocating the restriction of Cook county's representation in both houses of the legislature.

The Anti-Saloon league backed the restriction scheme. And the man of the story was a dry. Apparently he was extremely dry, for shortly after breakfast on Wednesday some one showed him a bottle and he took—well, just a little nip. But as he continued on his way another bottle appeared, and, still being an advocate of downing liquor, he downed another one. And this sort of thing must have continued for some time, for later in the day the gentleman came to, looked about him, and found he was on a speeding train.

"Where am I going?"

"You're on your way to Chicago," was the reply. "We just comin' into Lincoln now."

Painfully he got off the train to wait for the next one back to Springfield. But it didn't arrive there until 5:30 p. m.

The big vote had been taken. The battle was lost because of the bottle.

L. Mulcahy (21), S. E. Pines (20), Rocco De Stefano (14), Jerry J. Viteria (11), Stanley J. Kufelawski (17), Leonard Brown (15), and Francis Borrelli (7).

For new six year terms—Francis Allegretti (23) and Mrs. Leonora Z. Meder (23).

For two new four year terms—Francis T. Sullivan (23) and E. Marshall Ambler (10).

For two new two year terms—S. E. Weinshenker (10) and Joseph A. Burke (35).

A meeting of the managing committee will be held at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon for the ratification of the ticket.

SEEK TO SLICE POWER OF COOK BY COMPROMISE

Conference in Session at the Capital.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 2.—(Special.)—Compromise of the differences between Chicago and the downstate in the constitutional convention is sought by a conference committee tonight. It is to report on Tuesday.

The conference committee consists of Delegates Latchford, Traeger, Dawes, Cutting, and Hamill from Cook county, and Delegates Lindley, Barr, Rinsaker, Farman, and President Woodward from downstate.

Plan of Proposed Compromise.

The conferees are seeking arrangement whereby Cook county is to have one-third of the senate and the house is to consist of 153 districts, to be constructed by the legislature on the basis of citizenship rather than upon population. The indications are that the vote for president, rather than that for governor, is to be the basis for the house districts.

Had enough Cook county delegates been present today the agreement might have been worked out before the week end adjournment, but twenty-one of the Cook county delegates were missing.

Down Staters Cannot Agree.

Downstate delegates were in turmoil all through the day. They couldn't agree on any program. Several were reported to have said they would not repeat their vote of yesterday when the county unit plan was beaten by one vote. A downstate caucus did agree, however, to the compromise limiting Cook county in the senate to seventeen of fifty-one members.

PEACE IN THE PACIFIC.

Although the agreement on naval limitation must be ratified by the governments of its signatories, there is no serious doubt that ratification will be accorded and we may therefore count this great document as a fact accomplished. Our own chief interest is in the significance of the pact to the American people.

The pact, first of all, means peace, not for all time necessarily, but certainly for many years. It means that a situation which offered not merely the possibility of war but the probability of it not the certainty of war has been reversed. Not only are the imminent forces of conflict blocked but conditions are created from which a wise statesmanship may evolve a continuing régime of peace.
The drift was into war. The direction now may well be steadily away from war.

Before the agreement the situation as it concerned the United States was this: Japan, was in formal alliance with Great Britain. This alliance contained a proviso which relieved the latter from an affirmative obligation to assist Japan in war against us. It did not preclude such assistance, if British policy should find it expedient. It did not preclude Great Britain's adopting a policy of friendly neutrality which would be hardly less injurious to us than open hostility.

Furthermore, this situation logically called for a naval building program on our part to offset this possible combination, and this program in its turn presented the alternative to Great Britain of building to the limit or of resigning that control of the sea which had been the cardinal doctrine of her policy since the days of Elizabeth. It also made advisable a maximum program for Japan.

In other words, all three powers were involved in a naval competition which would not only have strained their resources to the uttermost but which would inevitably have led to a conflict as the only practicable release from the competition.

We have discussed this predicament for many months and need not enlarge upon its implications now. It is our happy privilege now to congratulate our fellow citizens, as well as the people of the two great powers which with us have escaped its deplorable consequences, that the alliance between Japan and England has been rendered unnecessary and will end with the ratification of the naval agreement. The vicious circle of naval competition has been masterfully broken. An enormous burden on the taxpayers has been avoided and a strategic balance established which will permit all three countries to devote their financial and economic resources to constructive enterprises and the development of basic wealth and welfare.

With wasteful naval expenditure and war breeding naval rivalry disposed of, the conference has been enabled to establish a strategic situation in the Pacific which is an additional guaranty of peace. We refer to the agreement for the status quo on bases and fortifications in the eastern Pacific. As THE TRIBUNE has pointed out repeatedly, our possession of the Philippine Islands was an open invitation to war. To defend them involved the possession of a fleet far in excess of our proper defensive needs, a fleet not only heavily preponderant over that of Japan but also able to meet the possible combination of Japan and Great Britain:
a fleet, therefore, the very existence of which implied the possibility of decisive aggression against Japan and the destruction of British naval security, an essential to British existence. On the other hand, to fall short of adequate defense of the Philippines was invitation to easy initial victory for Japan in any war with us, and this meant not only encouragement to Japanese jingoism but our commitment to a long and expensive conflict forced upon us by a proper national pride and resentment against aggression.

Nothing in the Philippines could compensate us for paying the price imposed by either alternative.
The Philippines were a threat to our peace and self-respect. They are no longer so. They can no longer serve as an object of real anxiety to Japan, as a temptation to military adventure, save by a suicidal breach of faith, or as an excuse for military policy in Japan. The United States, the basic policy of which is genuinely pacific, has now placed itself in a position of strategic defense, without compromising that defense, and thus removed possible ambiguities by conforming our situation with our real policy. This has permitted or compelled such modification in the policy and situation of Japan and Great Britain as to justify a consistently defensive policy on our part, avoiding a prosperity-destroying expenditure and the dangerous alternative which our optimistic pacifism might have induced us to choose, that of unpreparedness for either offensive war or competent defense.

In short, the conference has given us the substantial assurance that during the years during which we must bear the burden of debt imposed directly and indirectly by the world war, instead of expending enormous sums upon preparation for an avoidable conflict, we shall be able to devote our resources to paying off the debt and to developing our industry and trade. Even if war should be forced upon us eventually, this period of constructive peace will have proved of immense benefit.

But it is not irrational to hope that the methods and relations agreed upon at this conference may be perpetuated and perfected so that what caution may now properly interpret as a truth shall become a permanent condition. We are encouraged in this hope because, as we held in editorial surgery the calling of such a conference as the President subsequently determined to call and did call, we can discern nothing in the vital interests of the United States, Japan, and the British empire which could justify resort to the miseries and wastage

COLLEGE PROFESSIONALISM IN SPORTS.

If the girls of a girls' school had slid down the water pipe at midnight and had been discovered trying to climb back up it in the morning after a night of jazz they could not have upset their world more than the University of Illinois and Notre Dame boys have done by making a Roman holiday for Taylorville and Carlinville.

The football coaches have broken hearts. Two football teams are all shot to pieces for next year.
Faculties are looking askance at the young men under their care. The collegiate world in these parts is a physical debacle and a moral collapse.
Universities are blighted, young men are blighted, athletic directors are blighted, future seasons are blighted, and a considerable portion of this section of the country sits in sackcloth and ashes because of what these young men Abrahams have done in their perversities.

The corn fed moral sense of these parts probably ought to be more shocked by the conduct of the college boys, who, by playing football at Taylorville, seem to have broken the heart of the world, but we cannot get them out of the picture as a group of Penrod Schofields. The football coaches suggest Penrod's dancing teacher and his agitation when Penrod tumbled.

We do not favor the young gentlemen of the universities sneaking into games under assumed names. We do not favor their taking money which they must sweat they never took. We do not favor them absenting themselves from school to play professional games or going to school merely to play games.

We believe that in vacation time it is just as reasonable for them to make money playing baseball for a summer hotel as it is for them to make money acting as swimming instructors, life guards, waiters, or desk clerks. We believe that college rules can permit a boy to make money out of his athletic skill without making him less an honorable college athlete or less a desirable student.

It is an English notion that there are gentlemen players and players, and that although the two classes occasionally may play together they must never meet. No such distinction belongs to America.

PLAYING A SURE THING.

Anti-Thompson Republican leaders have announced their determination to pit each other out of politics. We imagine that Mr. Lundin and Mr.
Thompson applaud this resolve as one of fine public spirit and wish them success. This is one political undertaking which seems to contain no possibility of failing in its object.

LYNCHING AND FEDERAL JUSTICE.

A bill to give the federal government jurisdiction in mob disorders and lynchings has been passed by the house of representatives. It aims to allow the United States to intervene in the police power of the state, and holds the delinquent local authorities accountable to the central government and the county which has not protected a victim from mob violence responsible to the extent of $10,000, to be paid the family or other heirs of the victim.

One of the difficulties in prosecuting in cases of mob violence is found in the local pressure brought on the prosecutors. If the community has condoned the lynching, it protects the lynchers, and the authorities are prevented by community sentiment from taking and punishing the offenders.

In such cases, the federal prosecutors, not being dependent upon local politics to the extent that other authorities are, might proceed with greater vigor and effectiveness to get the leaders of the mob and punish them.

Presumably, the bill is particularly aimed at the south; not because the north does not have lynching and does not allow offenders to escape, but because the south is supposed to have more community sympathy for lynchers and to afford less chance of punishment.

Sentiment in the south is rapidly turning against mob lawlessness, we believe, and that is the correction of such abuses. No community can be entirely safe against an outbreak of mob violence. The evil thing is when the community condones the lawless punishment of crime and adopts it as a procedure. The invasion of state police power by the central government would tighten up justice, but the price is pretty stiff.

Federal judges are appointed, and they are appointed for life, which makes for independence.
Prosecution is more vigorous and more certain than in the state courts; but, rather than adopt this expedient to cure community diseases, we'd prefer to see the community work out its own salvation.

That would mean betterment from the ground up, which is better than having it handed down from the top; and the American social system ought not to be confessing constantly its failure and inability to develop a lawful society.

Even in such terrible disorders as lynchings it is better to have the correction come from the awakened conscience of the people than to take a short cut through the reserved powers of the state to justice handed down from Washington.

The state threat against national unity has disappeared, but the state remains an important social and administrative component of the nation, and its powers and responsibilities should not be broken down persistently by the centralization of duties and powers in federal bureaucracy.

NEW YORK LOSES FIGHT.

(Rockford Register-Gazette.)

The fight of the state of New York to have the national government take sides with it in its attempt to defeat the construction of the seaway between the lakes and the Gulf of St. Lawrence has lost its first battle. The message of the President to the conference on the agricultural interests presents the seaway as one of the most important changes before the people. In support of that position he cites the far greater outlay being entered on by poor nations of Europe in constructing a shipway between the Baltic and the North sea. If it is important for them in their depleted condition to provide themselves with improved communications, where the situation from the natural difficulties and the possibilities of usefulness of the canal are so much inferior to our case, what would be thought of Americans if they failed to make the far greater economic improvement within their reach?

The President recognizes and enforces the fact that opening the way from the sea to the interior would improve the future of the entire agricultural and industrial system of the great states of the interior.
New York is still hoping to block this enormous public gain, that she may take toll of the commerce of the west. Her animus is altogether apparent.

JAWN AND HIS PIRATE ISLAND.

(Our Special News Service from Nassau.)

Considerable excitement has been caused here by the news that Mr. Jawn McCutcheon, the renowned American cartoonist, is en route here with Mrs. McCutcheon, two little McCutcheons, two nurses, a secretary, a cook, and a handy man.
It is thought by some that Pirate Island, to which Mr. McCutcheon is bound, is entirely too small for his entire household. It has been suggested that the family and the nurses, to say nothing of the cook, could live in the house, and Mr. McCutcheon and the handy man could climb up at night and roost in the tree. It is a perfectly good tree and has many branches. The American has had trouble on the island before, as it is very easy to fall off of unless one takes exceeding care. He lost a perfectly good cook that way only four years ago. The cook awoke in the night to set some yeast for buckwheat cakes, a queer dish much relished by the natives of North America. In the night the kitchen, which is a separate building, and the Atlantic ocean look much alike, and the cook apparently could not tell them apart.

Passing this unfortunate episode very hurriedly we come to another time when Mr. McCutcheon hoisted two enormous flags on his island. One, his private flag, the famous Stars and Bars, and the other the flag of old England, of which his island is a small but glorious part. Pirate Island could have done with one flag quite tidily, but two flags were too much.
The wind blew upon them with such force that they acted as sails upon a ship, and the little island started on a voyage in the direction of Labrador.
The cartoonist, with rare presence of mind, rigged a tiller, however, and steering by the stars brought his odd craft into harbor at Nassau. Here it was refitted, a new was put aboard, and some farm animals, so that if the general public should mariners, seeing it, would know it was an island and not a canoe. It was then taken back to where it belonged and firmly anchored in position.

When Mr. McCutcheon bought Pirate Island it was a desolate spot, inhabited only by the ghosts of a large number of disolute pirates who hung around the place at night under pretense of guarding some bal-lustrous chests they had planted there. The American furnished a place so that the pirate ghosts hurriedly left, pirates being a most untidy lot.
Then he painted the island a pretty green, put up a tree, and built a house. He has a trained shark who he saddles every day and rides to Nassau for his provisions and mail. The people of the Bahamas feel highly honored at having the distinguished American live among them, and when he arrives next Monday all of the British residents, the foreign visitors, and as many of the natives as have clothes will assemble at the wharf to give him a most royal welcome.

HUMORESQUE.

I often sit and think of music's wondrous charm,
Its battlements and lullabies, its healing, soothing arm.
O Humoresque, from your Master's desk
An epic on Swann's air—
With you joy and tear, and dare and fear
You are with me everywhere.

In fancy's flights I've scaled all heights;
I want to live, I want to die,
O Humoresque,
Midst your cries lurks laughter that echoes on and after,
O Humoresque.

You can gladden, you can sadden,
And to love is all I ask—
We're your debtor, 'cause we're better
Since we have you—
Humoresque.

WELL, PROF. IF YOU CUT OUT THE MUFFLER
AGAIN WE KNOW ONE LITTLE RUNABOUT THAT WON'T BE PARKED AT ANY
Y. W. SUMMER CAMP.

R. H. L.: Your warning to put on my chains relative to my placid lake experience last summer when presenting me as a view to persons of pulchritude was entirely unnecessary. I had my chains on—my wife was with me. Our domestic machine is never without 'em, and besides, she drives. Placidly she sewed beside the placid lake last summer, and she looked over her knees;
anon she smiled; and how always at paying the light on my canvas-ribbed cottage. Put on my chains!
I had 'em, friend, and over corded tires at that.

ABORIGINE.

We put all answers to our Jokeology Class riddle.
"Why does a hater wear a hat?" into a bag and shook 'em around and pulled out this one: "A miller wears a white hat because a sausage skin fits so tight, Maline." That isn't it; he does it to keep his head warm. But, anyhow, the answers to "How far can you go into a woods?" went next into the bag, and Little Miss Muffet, the society editor, stuck in her thumb and got this one: "You can go half way, for after that you are coming out. The Lotterer." And now, class, E. M. B. will rise and ask you, "Why is a black hen more clever than a white hen?"
Neither do we, but it's a riddle.

I HATE GIRLS—THEY'RE BLAH!
I hate girls—they're blah!
I try to be polite, but behave!
They seldom have a thought that's real,
Relying just on sex appeal.
"O, you're so big and strong," they say,
Why do I feel my time away?
I dance with them and hold them tight.
I have to—or have a fight.
I try to culture to enhance,
But all they say is, "O, I'm dance!"
I speak of music, art, but bosh!
No use, no use—all girls are blah!

Why should they think they are adored,
Why don't they see I'm merely bored?
I'm very patient, yes, and kind,
But hang it all, I've got a Mind.
And a Sense of Humor that says, "Ha! Ha!
You see old chap, all girls are blah!"
COLEMAN.

We can explain why he didn't see his shadow yesterday. It D. Hebb sent him to us in two packages. Hank and us had it for supper. My Vangie

How to Keep Well.

HOUSE COMFORT IN WINTER
THOSE who have been faithful to this column for number of years will recall a description of a home in Ottawa, Canada, which was heated by hot water, and in which the humidity was kept high enough to make it possible for plants to thrive in midwinter.

Those who lived in this home enjoyed a feeling of comfort of which the ordinary house dweller knows nothing.
The high degree of humidity in the air permitted a temperature almost 10 degrees below the customary indoor January level, and that, too, without discomfort to the occupants.

In that installation there was an evaporator in the furnace and the steam generated was discharged into the air intake.

The home was that of Dr. Peter Bryce, a life long health official, who began investigating and writing on the health needs of house air a generation ago.
Now Dr. Bryce is out with a simple device for humidifying the air of a house that has no air ducts, but gets its fresh air in through window openings.

I imagine it works best in those climates where storm windows are used in midwinter, and where the air comes in through an opening in the outer sash.

The device consists of a water evaporator heated by electricity. It is set in front of an opening in a window sash connected up with the electric light system and with a water faucet, and has a waste pipe running outside.

To use merely turn on the electric light, turns the faucet, and opens the storm sash aperture.

When the temperature of the outside air is at zero that mixture of gases cannot possibly carry much water. Even if it has a relative humidity of 80, it is dry, simply because cold air cannot hold water. The only chance the skin has for the water it needs in such weather is from exposure to a snowstorm.

But the conditions make many times worse when the outside air becomes the source of supply for room ventilation.

Almost free from water at zero, it is quickly heated to 70.

Its thirst becomes wild. It sucks up moisture from the furniture, the walls, from everything with which it comes in contact.

The skin is drawn on, and winter itch is general skin roughness ensues. The lungs are drawn on and a susceptibility to colds and pneumonia results.

To supply moisture the evaporation rate from the body is rapid, and this means chilling, and this, in turn, means a temperature well over 70 as a requisite for comfort. And then, to compensate for the loss of water, the body must be kept at 70.

RECOVERING STOCK.
Chicago, Jan. 29.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Since a stockholder to a broker for the purpose of obtaining money to speculate in stock, and the broker goes into bankruptcy, would the stock certificate return to the rightful owner, or would it be sold to the state with the loan is increasing in value?

H. W. D.
If you can point out a definite numbered certificate belonging to you you may be able to recover it. It seems more probable that the facts are that you have merely a contract right to receive so many shares from the broker, in which case you will share as a general creditor.

HIGH PRICES AND PROSPERITY—
BUT HOW ABOUT RUSSIA?
Chicago, Jan. 26.—Isn't it time that the back to "normalcy" foolishness was checked and the country allowed to get back to prosperity? Even if wages could be reduced to the starvation point, prices reduced until the farmer and business man went broke, our navy scrapped, and our army disbanded, still the principal and interest of the enormous amount of bonds, national, state, and municipal, broad based industrial securities, etc.,
now outstanding would remain the same.
They would have to be paid, and the less money people get for their products the heavier the burden of paying them. Since the beginning of modern times prices of the necessities of life have constantly increased. Every time this process is temporarily reversed widespread unemployment and insolvency immediately follow. The constant rise of prices is what enables people to pay their debts and keep their homes. It is settlement, after all, that makes governments possible.

The courts of the country last year naturalized 425,922 citizens, of whom 163,666 were civilians, who each have the power of citizenship in making new laws administering old ones, and forming governmental policies. In other words, we are making more than 500 civilian citizens each day, including Sundays and holidays. The general principle upon which we are not working fast enough in that direction, so the number of our civilian citizens made each day will be very considerably increased.

This has its good as well as its bad side, for it must not be forgotten that of our wonderful army that we forth to make the supreme sacrifice, 425,000 were aliens who could have successfully claimed exemption. These men must be honored as volunteers. The proportion to the other volunteers was of course, greatly larger than 10 per cent, but I have not the exact figure.
An important duty to these men consists in showing them that the American values deeply his citizenship.

I respectfully suggest that no banquet convention, or any public gathering ought to break up without this tribute from the audience to our country and its matchless flag.

STOP CRIME BY EDUCATION.
Chicago, Jan. 25.—I desire to commend your editorial, "An Official Appeal to Parents." I agree with you that "Seriousness" is a thoroughly wise policy, and that the most effective method of crime prevention is through the schools, and that the most effective
method of crime prevention is through
the schools, and that the most effective
method of crime prevention is through the schools.

See that the child gets sufficient rest and fresh air. Regulate a certain hour for sleep. The sleep before 12 midnight is the best. Above all, inquire into the child's habits and company when it gets before the front and back doors.
Foul instruction and advice, and the heads of the young by bad children of the street, might lead to serious results unless corrected by good, sound advice from the parents.

Don't quarrel. Make the home a congenial place; it will help the child's disposition. Make him like his home, and keep his mind always optimistic.
Be careful of the child's food. Improper food is the only kind that makes him sick.

Follow nature's laws, which will cure most ills, and guide the child's behavior along the ten commandments, and you will raise a worth while, healthy man.
A word to the wise is sufficient.

GEORGE E. SANBORN.

WIFE CHASED HIM WITH KNIFE, SAYS STOKES IN COURT

New York, Feb. 2.—[Special].—W. D. Stokes made what was virtually a blanket denial of the charges of cruel treatment made against him by Mrs. Stokes, and also said she once threatened to kill him, when he resumed the witness stand on direct examination today. Mr. Stokes is defending the wife brought by his wife before Justice Cobden in the supreme court to set aside her release of dower in the large realty holdings of the wealthy hotel owner.

While admitting he had argued with Mrs. Stokes, he denied he had ever struck her. He recalled one time when they had quite a dispute "because she didn't want to have children," upon which occasion, he testified, he told her that if she didn't want to have children the never should have married him.

Tells of Signing Deed.
He told of the signing of the deed by Mrs. Stokes whereby his real estate, consisting of forty-nine parcels in this city and others elsewhere, was turned over to a holding company. This was on May 17, 1911. No effort was made to coerce Mrs. Stokes to sign, he said.

Questioned by his own attorney, Mr. Stokes told of many of the disputes he and Mrs. Stokes had had over money matters. He said:

"Although I was allowing her an average of $87 a month, which was $37 a month more than the $50 I agreed to let her have, she was always asking for more. She wanted $20,000 in a lump sum, but would never explain for what purpose."

Three wills made by Mr. Stokes were introduced in evidence. Each of them contained in substance a provision that in case of his death there should be created a trust fund insuring Mrs. Stokes an annual income of $35,000 in lieu and bar of all dower rights.

"Threatened to Kill Him."

6 MONTHS

Mrs. Helen Ferguson Drexler.

SIX MONTHS in the women's home at Geneva was the penalty fixed upon Mrs. Helen F. Drexler yesterday by Federal Judge George A. Carpenter after he had found her guilty of obtaining allotments from the government under false pretences.

The government charged that the defendant has married half a score of soldiers and sailors, deserted them, and then collected allotments.

When I called on Mrs. Stokes she again demanded that I give her $35,000 a year, and when I told her that the state of my finances would not permit me to do so until after I had paid off all my mortgages, she flew into a rage and scratched my face so badly that I still carry the scars.

"I had to run from the apartment through the kitchen and escape down the back stairs, as she drew a carving knife and threatened to kill me."

McADOO CLAIMS FEDERAL RULE SAVED RAILWAYS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 2.—The charge of certain railroad executives that the government "ruined" the roads is groundless, William C. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury and wartime director general of railroads, told the senate interstate commerce committee today in concluding his testimony in its inquiry into the transportation situation.

Claims for His Service.
Summarizing his testimony, Mr. McAdoo asserted that he had shown that "the appalling transportation crisis" at the time federal control was inaugurated, "forced, as a vital military and economic necessity, the taking over of the railroads," that "federal control... alone could save the situation and did save it," and that "consolidation was broken, railroad lines were coordinated and operated as an effective national machine and the required amount of transportation to meet military needs... was supplied." No great industry was "ever more generously treated by the government," said the former director, declaring that during federal control it had assumed all risks of operation, protected bond and stock holders, transformed the properties from "a menace to public safety" in January, 1918, as stated by the interstate commerce commission, into "an efficient machine," had "stabilized" railroad labor and, during the period of control, had guaranteed the roads an annual rental of $608,000,000, or $175,000,000 more than Chairman Cummins of the committee had said they were entitled to receive.

Says Income Is Assured.
In addition, he said, the carriers were given a basis for rate making which assured them, with a return of normal business conditions, an annual income of $1,184,000,000, or $200,000,000 more than the government rental, and were guaranteed against losses for six months after return of the properties to private control.

"When everything is settled," Mr. Cummins interjected, "we will be, I think, about $1,800,000,000 behind."

"If that is true," said Mr. McAdoo, "it will represent an extremely small cost to the government for the war transportation."

Joseph Schildkraut, an actor, almost too beautiful to be true in "Orphans of the Storm," says the Tribune-Advertiser.

25 MEET DEATH IN PENNSYLVANIA MINE EXPLOSION

Gates, Pa., Feb. 2.—Twenty-five miners are known to have been killed by an explosion at the Gates mine of the H. C. Friel Coal and Coke company early today.

The cause of the explosion, which occurred a mile and a half back in the workings of the plant, has not been determined. The appearance of the bodies when found indicated that death had been caused by asphyxiation. Damage to the mine is not known. The mine is one of the largest of the Friel company. Normally 1,000 men are employed.

Gas Blast Kills Nine.
Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 2.—Nine convicts were killed from a local gas explosion in the Belle Ellen coal mines in Bibb county late today, according to reports received here by C. H. Nesbitt, state mine inspector.

Mr. Nesbitt said he had only received a meager report on the accident, but that the superintendent of the mines told him the explosion was a local one, that all the bodies had been recovered, and that the mine was clear.

FOUND DEAD OF GAS.
Hans Rasmussen, 50, 5436 West Division street, was found dead, asphyxiated by gas, yesterday in the bedroom of his home.

The audiences are as unrestrained in their enthusiasm of D. W. Griffith's "Orphans of the Storm" as the wild crowds in the picture, turned loose in Paris when it was at its wickedest height, when it was without law, when the people went dancing, singing, loving and taking, as they pleased. The lawless—but not loveless—city in that cyclonic last act!

From the storehouse they took gold and silver and precious stones, from the storehouse they took satins and silks to make alluring their bodies; also they took love, wild love, sweet and tender love. They took all! LOVE! LOVE!! LOVE!!!

And that climax at the finish of the first part—the balcony scene!

And that last wild ride to the rescue. Have you heard them? Man, they shout!

Sanitary District O
Vast Project Begu

Within a year Bubbly Creek will be a bubble along street from Halsted street to the lake, and the way will be the construction of a boulevard to the McCormick and the forest preserve, according to Drilling, chief engineer of the district.

The sanitary board yesterday had him to begin work on the for confining Bubbly Creek in duit, the cost of which is estimated to be $1,500,000.

Project Long Urged.
The project is one long advocated by Trustee E. J. Carr, now treasurer, and Trustee James J. Key and Matthias A. Mueller, present board. More than two have been spent in getting the early permits from the government, and property holders.

Among the interests affected Chicago City Railway company, Union Stockyards, and Transpary, the Le Moyne heirs, the N Box company, the Western P and Provision company, and the tral Manufacturing district, all property along the section of creek to be closed.

Immense Conduit Planned.
The internal diameter of the duit will be twenty-five feet, a dilling. "A strip of land of street, sixty-six feet wide, has obtained by the district.

When the conduit is completed it is expected the be able to build the Pershing yard, 148 feet wide, from the the forest preserve."

PLAN TO CLOSE "BUBBLY CREEK" WITHIN A YEAR

Sanitary District Orders Vast Project Begun.

Within a year Bubbly creek will cease to bubble along West 29th street from Halsted street to Racine avenue, and the way will be open for the construction of a boulevard from the lake to the McCormick road site in the forest preserve, according to A. W. Dilling, chief engineer of the sanitary district.

The sanitary board yesterday authorized him to begin work on the plans for confining Bubbly creek in a conduit, the cost of which is estimated to be $1,500,000.

Project Long Urged.

The project is one long advocated by former Trustee E. J. Carr, now county treasurer, and Trustees James H. Lawley and Matthias A. Mueller of the present board. More than two years have been spent in getting the necessary permits from the government, state, and property holders.

Among the interests affected are the Chicago City Railway company, the Union Stockyards and Transit company, the Le Moyne heirs, the National Box company, the Western Packing and Provision company, and the Central Manufacturing district, all owning property along the section of Bubbly creek to be closed.

Immense Conduit Planned.

"The internal diameter of the conduit will be twenty-five feet," said Mr. Dilling. "A strip of land on 29th street, sixty-six feet wide, has been obtained by the district."

"When the conduit is completed only 600 feet of the creek will be exposed. This runs northwest of 29th street. By the time the conduit is completed it is expected the city will be able to build the Pershing boulevard, 108 feet wide, from the lake to the forest preserve."

CITY HALL COGS ANXIOUSLY EYE BATTIS INQUIRY

Grand Jury Sifts Case of Machine "Pet."

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The Cook county grand jury is expected to say something soon of interest to Roy James Battis. It will, therefore, concern the Thompson-Lundin organization, because Battis is chief clerk in the city controller's office, and a willing worker in the city hall vineyard of the thirty-second ward.

As to the form the expression of the grand jury will take, the jurors alone know, but that they are considering the case of Mr. Battis is an open secret. Harry Wallace, secretary of the city civil service commission, and Charles J. O'Connor, who was pitched out of the chief clerkship of the controller's office in January, 1919, were called before the grand jury yesterday.

O'Connor has a decision of the Appellate court directing that he be reinstated in his old position, but Battis continues to draw the pay.

Backed by Machine Cogs. Battis is said to have the backing of James Rea, Thompson-Lundin leader in the Thirty-second ward, and of "Milt" Severinghaus, who has the inside track on the city's printing. He was one of the principal salesmen of Riverview "jubilee" tickets of the Thompson-Lundin organization to civil service employees of the controller's office.

Battis also signed the name of Deputy Controller Gosselin to warrants in paying expert fees, according to testimony by employees of the controller's office before the aldermanic committee investigating the spending of $2,742,000 in expert fees.

In addition Ald. Adamowski recently told the finance committee that Battis attempted to increase his salary from $4,000 to $6,000 a year after the committee had refused to boost the payment from $4,000 to $4,500, and was instrumental in causing an overdraft of $1,000 on the city treasury to pay overtime to clerks in defiance of the city appropriation ordinance.

After waiting three years the civil service commission posted a list of eligibles for the job which Battis holds as a temporary employe.

Others to Waive Claims.

Battis passed fifth on the list. The three top men are civil service employes, and it is reported that they will waive claim to the job, if it is tendered them. The fourth man on the list is James Bowler, clerk in the office of the Municipal court clerk. He said yesterday he will not waive, if tendered the position. But the list was posted Jan. 18, and Battis still holds the fort.

The case of Battis is looked upon as an incident, but members of the Thompson-Lundin organization appear anxious to know what the grand jury is going to do.

Complete Plans for Opening Municipal Lodging House

Over the objections of Chief of Police Fitzmorris, preparations are going forward for the opening of the municipal lodging house at 183 North Union street. The chief declares that "an open house for the jobless will result in an influx of unemployed and cause an increase in robbery, burglary, larceny, and other crimes."

Wife Admits Being "Vamped" by Grandson

Mrs. Martha Malchris, 4040 North Lawrence avenue, admits she has been "vamped," but only by her year old grandson. Her husband, Albert H. Malchris, manager of the Welland Dairy company, in his petition for divorce before Judge Charles A. McDonald yesterday was ordered to pay her $15 weekly alimony until the case is tried. In her cross bill Mrs. Malchris names a Miss McKee. Malchris alleged his wife was the "queen of the harem" for a north side haberdasher.

MAKERS SEE FEW CHANGES IN CAR OF NEXT DECADE

BY J. L. JENKINS.

"How can you people improve on the automobiles shown here this afternoon?"

The question, put to one of the many technical engineers attached to the exhibits by an enthusiastic motorist yesterday, suggested the topic of main interest to Chicago car fanciers after five days of the annual auto show "motor mania." The consensus of opinion among representative builders is that few, if any, startling changes will be made either in motor or body design in America during the next decade.

Eliminating Need of Repair.

"There are many possibilities in the future field," said Col. J. G. Vincent of Packard, and one of the engineering leaders, "among the revolutionary cooling of motors, turbines, alloy steels, new fuels, body lines. My opinion is that development work during the coming decade will be confined largely to simplification and bringing construction to a standard basis. Greater endurance and absolute freedom from repairs and adjustments will come throughout the entire field—and soon."

"The car of today, I believe, has reached the peak of its mechanical development," says Frank B. Angsted. "For the next two years at least I look for a steady refinement of the general principles we have worked out in the last ten years."

"I do not expect to see any marked engineering changes in the near future," said E. S. Jordan, "but I do expect to see our engineers cut the operating expense of motors more and more through simplification of parts and assembly. The motor car of today is just about an engineering ideal."

Want Fuel Economy.

C. W. Nash and B. F. Everett pointed out the necessity, in the early future, of engineering developments aimed at fuel economy. Whether or not the present type of combustion engine will be rendered obsolete within the next decade by scarcity of fuel, they said, is a question that no one can answer at the present time.

John Willys and Louis Chevrolet, both recognized leaders in their fields, believe that the main trend of automobile engineering will be confined largely to cutting down the expense of motor transportation.

NOTES OF THE AUTO SHOW

F. B. Hutchinson, new advertising manager of the Coast steamer, the $1,000 Indianapolis built car, arrived yesterday to open headquarters in Chicago. He will also distribute the new steamer in this territory.

The R. & V. Knight six has established a new sales record for the Chicago branch, according to W. J. Boone.

C. W. Nash precipitated a near riot among rival manufacturers at the show yesterday in personally announcing a reduction in prices of from $80 to $188 in the Nash four-cylinder line. This brings the touring car to $985; roadster, $965; coupe, $1,350; sedan, $1,485, and sedan $1,645. He declared that, with these late reduction announcements, the public should feel that prices are now at rock bottom, and predicted an increase in lists before any more cuts are made.

Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker escaped from his host of friends long enough yesterday to present a new Rickenbacker Six to the Rev. Jacob Pieter, pastor of St. Paul's church, as a mark of affection and gratitude for a lifetime of help and friendship. The priest has been adviser, philosopher, and friend to the Ace ever since Eddie's father died in Columbus, Ohio, thirty years ago. "Rick" spent the afternoon with his old friend, explaining the mysteries of good driving.

Scores of Velle distributors prepared themselves for the biggest yet use of spring sales in history when the annual meeting in the Drake brought dispatches from every distribution center in the country reporting substantial increases in orders following the New York and Chicago introduction of the new Velle model. F. E. Bradford, vice president, and R. C. Cook, local distributor, had charge of the meeting.

John C. Moore, designer of the famous Ansted motor, used in Lexington lines, declared yesterday that users are going to force manufacturers generally to provide cars of better quality. This belief, he said, has resulted in the "Ultimate," Lexington's newest model.

L. J. Beinap, president, and Bob Roberts, sales manager of the Rolls Royce, American branch, have charge of the Drake Rolls Royce exhibit.

Tom Hay Jr. of the Cleveland branch, claims the first new car sale made at the show.

TEMPERATURE 33 BELOW ZERO IN SILVERTON, COLO.

Durango, Colo., Feb. 2.—The coldest weather of the season struck the San Juan basin last night in the wake of the severe snowstorm. Thirty-three degrees below zero was reported from Silverton and 32 below from Pagosa Springs. The mercury here stood at 18 below.

Dakotas Deep in Snow.

Pierre, S. D., Feb. 2.—All of central South Dakota today was digging itself out of the worst snowstorm which has swept this section in three years. Snow piles have blocked the railroad lines and ordinary roads in all directions. North Dakota also is smothered under a blizzard.

Lake Steamers Held Up.

Muskegon, Mich., Feb. 2.—[Special.]—Western Michigan is in the midst of the worst blizzard of the winter to date. The Goodrich steamer Alabama did not venture forth today and the Crosby steamer remained at Milwaukee.

Don't Let Your Eye Deceive You

Don't think because you used to get 16 oz., or a full pound when you bought a can of baking powder that you are getting it today.

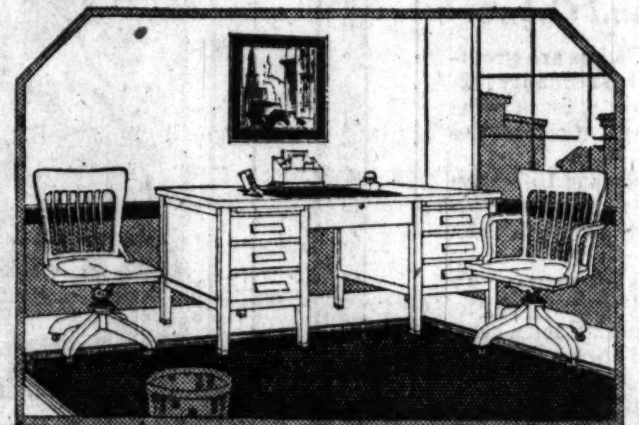

The can may look as large as it used to, but is apt to contain 4 oz. less. Some manufacturers of baking powder have reduced the number of ounces in the large can from 16 oz., or a full pound, to 12 oz., or 3/4 of a pound.

That's why you should be careful when you buy baking powder—you may be paying for what you think is 16 oz., or a full pound, and find that you are 4 oz., or a 1/4 of a pound short.

There is no change in the size of the Calumet can—always did and still does contain 16 oz., or a full pound of baking powder.

It is the best that science can produce—stands the test of daily use.

Advertising

FIFTEEN of the leading department stores of New York, representing one of the most powerful groups of retail merchants in America, used a total of 6,485,692 agate lines of advertising in THE WORLD—Morning, Sunday and Evening—during 1921. This was 1,135,962 lines in excess of the total space used by these stores in any other two New York morning, Sunday and evening newspapers under a single ownership. It was 360,790 lines in excess of the nearest two morning, Sunday and evening newspapers under separate ownership. The same was true during the years 1919 and 1920.

This group of department stores includes some of the largest purchasers of newspaper space in the world. Based on a conservative average, they expect every dollar expended to bring in $30 in retail sales, not at some future date, but within forty-eight hours after the appearance of their advertising. To question the predominance of THE WORLD as a vehicle for stimulating the distribution of merchandise in America's greatest retail market is to doubt the combined judgment of many of the foremost merchants of the country.

A Program of Editorial Expansion

WITH 1922, THE WORLD entered upon a notable program of editorial expansion. Among the recent acquisitions to the staff is Heywood Broun, who has been called one of the most brilliant writers in America. His daily column, "It Seems to Me," is a contribution of strength and power to the daily journalism of the country. Another new WORLD feature is "The Conning Tower" of Franklin P. Adams, otherwise "F. P. A.," whose "collyum" has for many years served as the daily shock absorber for jaded New Yorkers, who found in it each morning that jovial admixture of good nature and sound philosophy that gave them courage to face another twenty-four hours with a smile.

Dooms Taylor, himself a musician of note, writes about music for THE WORLD, and to the already strong editorial page, which commands pens among the most trenchant in America, there comes with the new year Walter Lippmann, who, as an author and Associate Editor of The New Republic, has acquired a justified reputation for the sanity, the clarity and the easy understanding of his political philosophy.

Adjudged
"First in Public Service"

THREE great universities in 1921, through their Departments of Journalism, awarded first place to THE WORLD for its unwavering devotion to the public service. Indeed, in the events of the past year that loomed largest in their influence upon public welfare THE WORLD assumed a position of leadership challenged by no other great newspaper.

It can justly lay claim to no little credit for the crystallization of popular opinion that had its ultimate expression in the Washington Conference on the Limitation of Armaments, and widespread public tribute has been paid to THE WORLD'S share in this vast enterprise for peace. It went a step further by bringing to this country to report the conference H. G. Wells, perhaps the foremost among writers who influence public opinion.

In New York, THE WORLD brought into being the Lockwood Committee and furnished most of the evidence by which this body demolished some of the most sinister groups of business and labor extortionists of recent history.

THE WORLD'S exposure of the notorious Ku Klux Klan is a matter fresh in the minds of all.

THIRTY-EIGHT years of leadership among the great metropolitan dailies of the country has attracted to THE WORLD a body of readers consistent and unwavering in their loyalty to its standards, and keenly alert in their responsiveness to its advertising columns. Just as it was first among the important journals of America to protect the advertiser by announcing that its circulation books were "open to all," so THE WORLD recognizes its stewardship to its readers by exercising a rigorous censorship over the advertising of every classification admitted to its pages.

Rigid Censorship of Advertising

Especially is this true of the Financial Department, in which nearly one hundred active accounts, many of them carried daily by other New York newspapers, have been declined by THE WORLD on the score that the protection of its readers is of paramount importance to any paper seeking to retain public confidence. It annually declines many thousands of dollars' worth of advertising of proprietary articles making unjustified claims of curative or therapeutic value. Any advertiser in THE WORLD may rest assured that he is in good company.

THE WORLD, as established by JOSEPH PULITZER, May 10, 1883:—

"An institution that should always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight vigorously of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunder, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely partial news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty."

IN concentration of sales-influence, the advertiser will find THE WORLD his most powerful New York ally, whether his problem be one of creating retail sales or of enlisting the co-operation of dealers. In a recent searching inquiry conducted among retailers of all lines of merchandising in 73 buying centres of Greater New York it was found that

60% of the Grocers
73% of the Druggists
62% of the Clothing Dealers
63% of the Hardware Dealers
76% of the Electrical Dealers
65% of the Furniture Dealers
68% of the Automobile Accessory Dealers are regular WORLD readers.

Here again, as in the case of its distribution among homes, THE WORLD brings together a concentration of sales-prospects of invaluable service to the manufacturer seeking a New York outlet for his product. When it is considered that virtually two-thirds of the retailers of Greater New York can be reached through a single medium, that to reach the other third would require the use of six other morning papers, one arrives at a clear approximation of the tremendous power exerted by THE WORLD in the distribution of merchandise in Greater New York.

NEW YORK is a vast area for efficient distribution of merchandise. No advertiser is justified in undertaking a campaign in this city without the most searching analysis of its sales possibilities for his product.

THE WORLD established the first merchandising service in New York. Its system of retail investigations is accorded first place by the Newspaper Division of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, and its merchandising standard of practice is that accepted by this organization.

Practically every centre of retail buying in Greater New York has been accurately charted and the findings analyzed for the benefit of the manufacturer who desires to invade America's greatest retail market. Morning, Sunday and Evening, THE WORLD offers the national advertiser a degree of concentration within the Metropolitan area unequalled by any other combination of New York newspapers. An inquiry will bring the fullest information relative to the specialized service which THE WORLD is equipped to give any advertiser contemplating a campaign in New York. Many conspicuous advertising successes have been built upon a careful study of THE WORLD'S market analyses.

This is the title of an interesting and searching analysis of the Greater Advertising situation in Greater New York. A copy, which will be forwarded on request, should be in the hands of every advertiser contemplating a campaign in New York.

THE CHILDREN AND GEORGE WASHINGTON

More Entries in the Race for $11,650 in The Tribune's Prize for School Children and Teachers.

Here are more of the essays by boys and girls entered in the George Washington prize contest being conducted by The Tribune. The contest closes on Washington's birthday, Feb. 22.

America's Foremost Patriot.

Since the year 1776 the 22d of February is a great day for every American, for on that day was born America's foremost patriot, general, and her first President—George Washington.

The name, George Washington, and liberty are inseparable; we cannot utter one without thinking of the other. On that day, too, is America's birthday because in Washington's birth is contained the birth of freedom. To him we owe all we are and all we have. He made it possible for us to boast of America, the greatest nation on God's earth, as it was he who laid the foundation under this, the greatest of the world's democracies.

He was not only a great patriot and leader, he was also a great man. His character stands out unblemished from dangerous ambition and greed. Whatever he had undertaken, he did with a view to public not personal good. He had his nation's success always at heart, and after his long and devoted service to her, when he was in retirement, it was his greatest pleasure to see that nation thrive, prosper, and succeed.

Should Penetrating Foresight.

Washington was an able and sagacious statesman. By the sheer force of his indomitable will and his immense capacity for hard work and self sacrifice, he drew a stable government out of political disorder. Unlike some of the statesmen of this century, Washington could never be bribed or tempted from the narrow path of honor. He always thought less of praise or blame and more of the duty well done.

Washington was not a man to be forgotten. As time goes on his deeds shine with greater luster in the annals of history. His name lives forever in the hearts of his countrymen, and with good reason. His every thought was for the advancement of his country toward the high destiny marked out for her among the nations of the world.

His wonderful farewell address shows his penetrating foresight of the perplexing problems that are clamoring for solution today. Indeed, it seems that he was gifted with prophetic visions in those last hours of his official life, and he voiced the counsel of "an old and affectionate friend" while still vested with the authority that rightfully claimed the respect of his countrymen.

If we as faithful children follow his wise advice our ship of state will sail triumphantly through the storms now threatening, and "Old Glory" shall forever wave "o'er the land of the free and the home of the brave."

TERESA DOOLEY,

JANITORS' CASE TO BE GIVEN JURY BY NOON TODAY

The case of William F. Quesse, president of the Chicago Flat Janitors' union, and nine other labor officials, on trial before Judge John A. Swanson, in the Criminal court, charged with conspiracy, will be in the hands of the jury before noon today.

At the opening of court yesterday Judge Swanson indicated that he expected the matter to be given to the jury before adjournment, but when late in the afternoon Special Prosecutor Edwin J. Raber stated he expected to talk for another hour the case went over.

After Raber has completed his arguments and the judge has read his instructions the jury will be given the case. The state is asking the maximum penalty, a five year sentence and a $2,000 fine, for each of the ten men.

GERMANS PLAN SKYSCRAPER FOR FAIR AT LEIPZIG

A thirty story skyscraper—the first in Europe—will be erected in Leipzig, where for over 400 years merchants from all over the world have assembled twice a year, in spring and fall, to get ideas on new merchandise assembled there by thousands of exhibitors. The architect of the proposed building is Prof. Peter Behrens, who visited this country in 1915, having been commissioned by the German government to prepare plans for a new embassy building in Washington. The skyscraper will cost 250,000,000 marks.

WEEKS PUTS FOR SHOALS PROJECT UP TO CONGRESS

Does Not Advise Rejection or Acceptance.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Washington, D. C., Feb. 2.—[Special.]—Secretary of War Weeks, submitting to congress today Ford's proposal to take over the Muscle Shoals, made no recommendation for its acceptance or rejection, but gave several suggestions for modification and amendment, should congress consider accepting the offer.

If congress should receive the proposal with favor, the secretary of war thinks it should be modified so that the public grant to Mr. Ford would be for fifty years, instead of 100 years, thus conform to existing laws relating to water power concessions.

Secretary Weeks also called attention to the fact that if the proposal accepted the government must allow appropriations amounting to $10,000,000 to $20,000,000, of which Ford will have the benefit for approximately 100 years at 4 per cent.

An Alternative Suggestion. The government, in the opinion of Secretary Weeks, in case congress rejects Ford's plan, should complete the Wilson dam at Muscle Shoals on its own account, the expenditure warranted by power requirements for commercial purposes, benefits to navigation, as well as possible emergency needs of the government.

"If this were done," said Secretary Weeks, in his comments accompanying the Ford contract, "the government may itself undertake to sell the project to the best advantage. In such the amount of the government's investment would be materially reduced, because dam No. 2, costing from $18,000,000 to $25,000,000 would not be built, and it would be necessary to make the full installation of power plant on the Wilson until the market required such installation.

"This partial installation," the secretary said, "would effect a saving present investment of at least $3,000,000, leaving, according to the engineers' estimate, not to exceed $100,000 to be invested by the government."

Washington, D. If congress should receive the proposal with favor, the secretary of war thinks, it should be modified so that the public grant to Mr. Ford would run for fifty years, instead of 100 years, and thus conform to existing laws relating to water power concessions.

Secretary Weeks also called attention to the fact that if the proposal is accepted the government must make new appropriations amounting to $40,000,000 to $50,000,000, of which Mr. Ford will have the benefit for approximately 100 years at 4 per cent.

An Alternative Suggestion.

WASHINGTON FLAGS AT HALF MAST FOR E. H. SHAUGHNESSY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 2.—[Special.]—Flags of the postoffice department and other public buildings were at half mast today in tribute to Second Assistant Postmaster General E. H. Shaughnessy of Chicago, who succumbed early this morning to injuries inflicted in the Knickerbocker theater disaster, last Saturday night.

Death came to Mr. Shaughnessy shortly after 5 o'clock, a relapse in his condition, which was believed to have been improving, having occurred last midnight. The end followed paralysis of the intestines, followed by sudden heart collapse. Heroic measures had been employed to save Mr. Shaughnessy's life, including a series of blood transfusions, in which a number of soldiers in Walter Reed hospital made blood sacrifices.

Interment is to be Saturday afternoon at Arlington National cemetery, with full military honors.

SENATORS FROM MISSOURI CLASH OVER NEWBERRY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 2.—[Special.]—Another lively clash over the Newberry case broke out in the senate today. The principals were the two Missouri senators, Spencer and Reed. Senator Spencer, who led the successful fight in Senator Newberry's behalf last month, took the floor to answer Senator Reed's vigorous attack upon the peculiar wording of the resolution confirming Newberry's title to his seat. Mr. Spencer referred to Senator Reed's speech as a "smoke cloud of venomous vilification."

Senator Reed, hearing that his colleague was speaking, hastened to the senate chamber and was on his feet to reply the moment Spencer sat down. Reed began by reading the language of the Newberry resolution, which condemns the expenditure of $195,000 in the Michigan election, but which nevertheless declared Mr. Newberry entitled to his seat.

More Facts You Should Know!

- 1 For the calendar year, January 1, 1921, to January 1, 1922, Buick built and actually sold over 80,000 automobiles.
- 2 These sales for the calendar year 1921 exceeded by over 12,000 cars the sales of any automobile manufacturer having a six-cylinder automobile in its line.
- 3 These sales for this period likewise represent a volume of business greater by over $9,000,000 than the sales of any other automobile manufacturer excluding Ford.
- 4 These figures are taken from official reports and are absolutely reliable.

The Week's Events

MUCH interest is being shown this week in the Rolls-Royce car on display in the Women's Sports Apparel Section, a model similar to one being shown in the Automobile Salon at the Drake.

The week sees also the various sections at their best with displays of motor apparel. Other displays bid for attention, too—the showing of newly imported hats in the French Rooms of the Millinery Sections, and the many February Sales, from Shoes and Home Furnishings to Undergarments and Infants' Wear.

February offers opportunity through these special sales.

Bright with Embroidery

Women's Blouses
Attractively Priced, $10.75

BLOUSES have never been more appealingly feminine. Their styles are as becoming as they are smart, and charming touches of embroidery are ever so effective as trimming.

This New Overblouse Is Very Smart, Indeed

The model sketched of crepe de Chine in overblouse style ties at the back. Embroidery and cabochon beads enhance its attractiveness. In navy, gray, black, bisque and rust.

Sixth Floor, Middle, State

Misses' New Suits Prove Spring Is Coming

Special at $57.50

A COVETED simplicity of line achieved by faultless tailoring is prevalent in these Suits. The material of a very superior quality of tricotine makes them more than ever desirable, and the linings of lustrous silk crepes will prove practical as well as lovely.

Two Models Are Sketched

The Suit sketched at the left follows Fashion's penchant for rows and rows of tucks. You will find its youthfulness extremely becoming.

The other Suit lays its claim to smartness in its effective trimming of bias folds.

Fourth Floor, Middle, Wabash

Spring Styles Revealed in Women's Attractive New Tailored Suits

EARLY as it is, new Suits bring the assurance of authoritative news of Spring Styles. No question but that smart tweeds and homespun are here to stay, presenting as they do endless variety in weaves and color combinations. Fine tricotines and twill, however, hold a position of security not to be questioned.

These Suits, from $50 to $65, Present Pleasing Variety

At $50—Suit of homespun, cable stitching on pockets, comes in a variety of colors. Not sketched. At $65—Suit of herringbone tweed, excellently tailored, comes in gray and tan. At right.

At $57.50—An attractively tailored Spring model is hand-embroidered. At left.

As Paris Sees Spring Millinery

A NEW collection of Paris Hats has just arrived to give us first-hand news of the verdict of French milliners regarding Spring Hats.

They bring us news that black and white in combination predominates, though there are, of course, many brilliant colors used. Fascinating bird and feather trimmings and exquisite flowers and—well, all the usual ingenious touches that mark them decidedly French!

Also a special display of French Mourning Hats, which are exceedingly smart and distinctive.

Knicker Suit of Tweed, $35

A Very Excellent Value

IF you go in for Sports you'll find this sort of Knicker Suit simply indispensable. Its sturdy tweed material, which will stand the hardest wear, is of an excellent quality. And it is tailored for comfort as well as smartness, as shown in the generous knickers and in the inverted plaits of the coat. The value is very unusual at this price.

Extra Knickers may be had in different materials at $10.75.

Sports Apparel Section, Sixth Floor, South, State

Captivating New Ways to Make Sashes

Ribbon Models Displayed in Their Diversity of Style

THERE is an infinite variety of ways in which Sashes may be tied, all attractive and unquestionably feminine. A number of different models are displayed in the cases in this Section. Prices range from $2 to $10.

A shower Sash of rose and brass color picot Ribbon is caught at the waist with a spray of Ribbon flowers, $7.15.

A French Ribbon Sash of blue and silver, finished with bright flower, $4.50.

First Floor, North, State

Misses' New Fringed Skirts, $8.75, $13.75

In the February Sale

THE smartness of the new Skirts depends as much upon their trimming as upon their materials. If they have fringe trimming of the same material, or if they are of the new "spongy" fabrics, they are certain of approbation.

The Two Sketched Are Cleverly Youthful

Left, tweed skirt in tan and gray with fringe along the side and on the pocket, $8.75.

Right, brown-and-tan checked wool eponge has fringe at the bottom and pocket, $13.75.

Sixth Floor, Middle, Wabash

That Very Fastidious Age

Between 8 and 14

CLOTHES mean a great deal to young women of these ages. But even her particular taste will be satisfied when she sees this Frock of wool Canton Crepe, gray above and henna below. The decoration consists of rose colored squares appliqued in interesting groups on the gray, and embroidered in gray wool. They are made exceptionally well of a good quality of material.

She will like the smartness of this little Frock, and her mother will be pleased at the excellent value. This dress also in navy and jade.

New Fabrics and Low Prices Create Much Interest in

February Sale of Women's Skirts

FASHION'S predictions that the newest Skirts will be fashioned of the smartest fabrics have been realized. Sturdy tweeds and homespun wrap themselves about you in a very graceful manner or show fascinating fringed hems and pockets. Then there are Skirts of novelty silk fabrics that will encourage a sojourn in the South or California.

Three Skirts Are Sketched To Demonstrate Their Attractiveness

The Skirt of tweed at the left is indispensable because of its many uses, $8.75.

Quite as smart as anything this season is the fringed Skirt of homespun in the center, $12.75.

The Skirt at the right will combine delightfully with sweater or blouse to make an effective daytime costume. Its material is one of the new novelty silk crepes, $16.75.

Sixth Floor, South, State

73 MORE GIVEN PRIZES IN LUCKY HOROSCOPE TEST

Send Yours In Now and Then Try Again.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

A list of the seventy-three prize winners for today in the lucky horoscope contest is printed on page 7.

In a first floor window of THE TRIBUNE building at 7 South Dearborn street a list of prize winners is posted. Each day the names of the owners of the luckiest names on a piece of paper the same size as the coupon, will be posted there.

You do not need to buy THE TRIBUNE to see whether you won a prize. You do not have to buy THE TRIBUNE to enter your name in the contest. If you send in your name with the information requested, on a piece of paper the same size as the coupon, it will have an equal chance of winning with those submitted on the coupon printed every day.

Remember, you can send as many coupons as you wish in one envelope. Names may be brought to me at THE TRIBUNE office as well as mailed in. There's one on page 7 of this edition.

Enter Relatives' Names.

The name of any relative may be entered in the contest, or the name of any child of any relative or friend.

What's in your name? Is there any luck in your name? The combination of letters in your name, your father's name, and your mother's name, with the day of the month on which you were born, may make a lucky horoscope for you.

Daily and Sunday prizes will be given. First prize is $500, second $100, and third $50. Seventy more prizes of $5 each will be awarded daily. At the close of the lucky name contest a grand prize of $10,000 will be given for the luckiest name of all.

If you were not fortunate enough to win a prize the first time you sent in your name, try again.

The day I receive your name counts. The date it was sent in counts. If you are not lucky the first or second time you may be a winner on the third or fourth attempt.

THESE, THE WINNERS

The planets were once more kind and yesterday's TRIBUNE brought the glad tidings of their golden shower to seventy-three more persons.

First they chose Mrs. Ada Gage Allyn, 452 South Grand avenue West, Springfield, Ill. They awarded her the first prize of $500 because hers was the luckiest name. Her name showed that she was courageous, confident, perseverant, possessed of the qualities of leadership and imagination, and, above all, happy.

Mrs. Allyn is a leader in church work and other public activities, and her husband thinks that the horoscope did not do full justice to her good qualities.

And the second prize, $100 went to Richard Reed Burr, 5625 South Wood street, chief supervisor of the collection department of the People's Gas Light and Coke company. Mr. Burr said he was impressed by the accuracy with which the horoscope depicted the characteristics of his father—"strength of character, with inclination to help the unfortunate"—and of his mother—"descended from nobles." She is a descendant of a long line of ancient Irish kings, he said.

The stars felt they couldn't leave out the children, so they gave the $50 third prize to Garfield Arthur Ross, 3500 West North avenue. Garfield is 9 years old and is in upper fourth grade in the State school.

"First I'll buy my mother and grandmother a present," said Garfield, "and then I'm going to get a pair of roller skates."

Four Are Acquitted in Death of Policeman

Eugene Casaretti, Philip Ottavio, Settimo Gianetti, and Attilio Puccinelli, members of an Italian club which was giving a dance in Emmet hall when Policeman James Harrington was killed by a fall from the third floor of the building, were found not guilty by a jury before Judge Harry Fisher yesterday.

A Blue Ribbon Comic

W. E. HILL

will have a two-page spread in next Sunday's Rotogravure Section, and will be in THE TRIBUNE every Sunday thereafter. Hill doesn't throw custard pies, but as a humorist with an appeal for intelligent grown-ups he has no equal.

A Blue Ribbon Comic

LUCKY NAMES

Richard Reed Burr, who won second prize, $100, in yesterday's horoscope contest conducted by THE TRIBUNE.

Garfield Arthur Ross won third prize, $50, in yesterday's contest for lucky names.

HERE AND THERE IN THE THEATERS

THE arrival of Miss Ina Claire and Aronson Byrnes, acting in the French farce, "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," is now definitely appointed for Monday, Feb. 20. Probably they will come to the Garrick, following "The Last Waltz," which departs two weeks hence.

This is the play which the police of New Haven, Conn., stopped, after its first two or three performances, deeming it, they said, a bit salacious.

The New York authorities found nothing wrong with it, however, and no further difficulties with the law have been encountered.

"Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," an adaptation by Charlton Andrews from the French of Alfred Savoir, who follows the profession of dramatic criticism in Paris.

Byron, the fine actor whom you remember as having played with Miss Marjorie Hademan in "Transplanting Jean," at Powers' in the fall of 1920, replaces Edmund Breese in the cast for the Chicago engagement. Breese in turn replaced Claude King, who withdrew on the eve of the first performance. It is explained by the producer that Byron was his original selection for Miss Claire's vis-a-vis in the play, but that circumstances until now have prevented his assuming the role.

"The Rose Girl" will leave the La Salle at the end of next week, and on Feb. 18 Bert Williams will bid a reluctant farewell at the Studebaker, taking "Under the Bamboo Tree" eastward. No successor has been named for either entertainment, but George Arliss has been expected at the Studebaker for many weeks and probably will arrive there on Feb. 19 to act in William Archer's highly successful melodrama, "The Green Goddess."

"Othello" and "Richard III." have been reserved by Mr. Mantell for the third and final week of his engagement at the Olympic, beginning Sunday night. When he plays "Othello" on Monday it will be his first Chicago appearance in the role in more than a decade. Casimir Delavigne's "Louis XI," a notable item of his repertory, will not be acted at all in Chicago this year.

Dr. Herman M. Rundenfeldt, appointed health commissioner on Wednesday, received a baptism of fire yesterday, his first full day in office, when the number of influenza cases jumped to nineteen, the largest number reported on any day this year. There have been thirty-nine cases reported in the last three days.

Dr. Rundenfeldt declared he has no departmental changes in mind for the present.

SHORT SKIRTS GIVEN O. K. BY COLLEGE DEANS

Not Immoral; They're Just Healthful, They Say.

Four Chicago women, who have opportunity to know girls and their reactions to dress expressed approval yesterday of statements of Dr. Elizabeth Thelberg of Vassar college, who declared that the health, strength, and beauty of the modern girl are directly traceable to her mode of dressing.

"I know Dr. Thelberg personally and agree with everything she says," declared Miss Mary Ross Potter, dean of women of Northwestern university. "Modern styles are merely expressive of a healthier, freer spirit. Short skirts have nothing to do with improper dancing."

She Wore a Train.

Miss Marion Talbot, dean of women at the University of Chicago, seconded Miss Potter.

"When I went to college I wore a train," said Miss Talbot, "a train that dragged along the dusty sidewalk. Nothing could be more unhygienic. The short skirt of today is a big improvement. It is healthful, not immoral."

Miss Mabel C. Stillman, of the Illinois Vigilance association, in a lecture at St. Paul's Evangelical church yesterday, cited the hobbie skirt, balloon sleeves, the bustle, and the "pull back" skirt, which was designed to emphasize the contours of the figure, among other forerunners of the "frankly revealing length skirt of today, and declared that their wearers were none the worse for having worn them.

Just the Desire to Conform.

"Flapping galoshes, bobbed hair, hidden ears, and skirts of sanitary length are merely indications of a desire to conform," said Miss Stillman. "They are not symbols of moral depravity. The young woman of today is morally trustworthy and sound at heart."

Not only are short skirts all right, but knickerbockers are, too, says Miss Gertrude Hawley, instructor in physical education at Northwestern university. "I approve of short skirts," said Miss Hawley, "and more than that, I approve of knickerbockers for girls when skating, or hiking, or indulging in any strenuous out of door sport. They are the sensible thing to wear."

"Hootch Cases" Gain, Humane Society Finds

"Moonshine cases" handled by the Illinois Humane society in the Court of Domestic Relations totaled 221 in 1921, 140 more than in 1920, according to the society's annual report issued yesterday. Of the 221 seventy-six were women.

Other activities of the society included the reconciliation of twenty estranged couples and examination of 770 children for evidence of cruelty. Two tenant-landlord squabbles were adjusted, 250 homes examined, a children's home and fifty-one wife-beating cases investigated, and eighteen old people befriended.

Complaints of cruelty to domestic animals number 2,848. Ninety cases of cruelty to animals were prosecuted, resulting in fines totaling $1,936.

39 INFLUENZA CASES REPORTED IN LAST 3 DAYS

THE VENGEANCE OF HENRY JARROMAN

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

Henry Jarroman, released from prison, to which he was sentenced twenty years before for the murder of Charles Eddis, learns that John Camden, his old time friend, who stole his wife, killed Eddis, and fastened the crime on him, is dead. He has nourished his hatred of Camden all the long years in prison, and now his embittered heart bids him make Camden's daughter a victim in place of her father.

Camden's daughter, who believes her name to be Nadia Quest, is employed as a waitress by the Hon. Wilfred Stranack. He loves her and asks her to marry him. Lord Doucester, Stranack's father, is startled when he learns that she is the wife of the man who killed his son.

INSTALLMENT XXVIII.

A HINT TO LADY DOUCESTER.

Three hours after the end of the interview with Segrove, Jarroman was stepping out of the Brighton express at the London terminus and hailing a taxi.

"Doucester house, Regent's Park," he told the driver.

His sudden determination to call upon the Doucesters had sprung from no definite plan of action. He would just have a chat and see how the ground lay. At the back of his brain was a firm confidence that, if it did not lie as he wished, he could effect the necessary alteration.

The door was opened to him by an immensely solemn man servant who informed him that Lord Doucester was out of town.

Jarroman, who had been aware of it, thereupon requested a moment's chat with Lady Doucester instead.

Lady Doucester could be gracious when she chose. It was a weapon to which she always resorted when in doubt.

"Good afternoon, Mr. Jarroman," she said, offering her hand. "I am sorry Lord Doucester is away. If I can be of any use please sit down and tell me how."

Jarroman's deep set eyes flickered over her. She looked in the kindly shadows of the room, quite twenty years less than what he knew must be her age. She held herself magnificently; her look was steady, with the brightness of steel, and her smile was exactly right.

"I think you could help me out a great deal, Lady Doucester, if you would be so kind," he said. "Your son, as you are doubtless aware, has paid my daughter the compliment of asking her to marry him. I have come in the hope of a frank discussion as to what, if anything, is to be done in the matter."

"O, really," said Lady Doucester, with a lift of the eyebrows. "I cannot exactly say that we have any attitude, what he knew must be her age. She held herself magnificently; her look was steady, with the brightness of steel, and her smile was exactly right."

"Thank you," said Jarroman. "I think, though, that we are not directly concerned with the personality of my daughter. There are obvious social objections from your point of view."

"I have never made them," interrupted Lady Doucester. "True," said Jarroman. "My daughter took care that the occasion should not arise. She refused your son's offer in what she conceived to be his interests."

Lady Doucester pointedly said nothing.

"It is quite unnecessary to feel embarrassed upon my account, Lady Doucester," Jarroman went on. "It is impossible that anything you would be likely to say should hurt my feelings. I beg you to tell me with the utmost frankness whether a marriage with my daughter would injure your son's career."

"I'll be brutally frank. I think Miss Jarroman, in refusing my son, behaved nobly—wisely. They wouldn't be happy after the honeymoon was over."

"Your son, who, after all, is a man of the world, must have considered all this."

"Wilfred," said Lady Doucester contemptuously. She tapped her slender fingers on the arm of her chair. "He's in love."

"Leaving the young people out of account for the moment," said Jarroman, "I must take it that, in plain English, your attitude to the marriage is one of opposition."

"If you will have it so—yes," answered Lady Doucester. "The increased restlessness of her fingers betrayed her annoyance at his persistence."

"Thank you," said Jarroman, rising. Lady Doucester made a conspicuous lack of effort to detain him. "I came partly to receive just such an answer as you have given me."

and their young daughter, is the proprietor of a smart gambling establishment. Theed, Jarroman's rascally solicitor, visits her and tells her Jarroman desires to find his daughter. They conspire to substitute Nadia for the real daughter, with the idea of getting Jarroman's fortune for themselves.

Theed bribes Nadia and Jarroman together. Jarroman, too, recognizes Camden's ring and knows Nadia is not his daughter, but Camden's. He refuses that the victim of his hate is delivered into his hands. Jarroman's detective, Segrove, reports that Camden was a relative of Lady Doucester's and that it was she who inherited the Camden estate at his death.

U. S. PREPARES TO ACT AS COAL STRIKE LOOMS

Indiana Operators Bring Walkout Nearer.

Official Washington, through Attorney General Daugherty, yesterday took cognizance of the coal mine situation, which developed further indications of an impending strike as fifty Indiana coal operators, meeting in Chicago, declared for a "radical and sweeping reduction in the present wage scale."

The attorney general said the government is preparing to meet the crisis that now seems almost inevitable. He declined to say what action is contemplated.

On the heels of the announcement Wednesday of a meeting of railroad and mine union leaders are to attend soon to prepare plans for joining forces in the fight against wage decreases.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, yesterday issued a call for the union's wage scale committee to meet in Indianapolis next Wednesday.

Scale Expires March 31.

Prevailing agreements between the union and operators expire March 31 and the scale committee will consider the basis upon which the miners will enter into a new pact.

Mine union officials have repeatedly warned that an effort on the part of operators to force a pay cut will result in a strike. The three associations of Illinois operators declared for wage reductions several weeks ago. The showdown will come April 1—if not sooner.

The proposal of operators to abolish the check-off system, under which union dues are deducted from miners' pay, is another important issue. In some quarters it is contended the very life of the union depends upon this semi-coercive means of collecting dues.

Counter, "Feed Up."

In discussing the strike threat Attorney General Daugherty said the country is "fed up" on industrial squabbles. He pledged government support of unions as long as they are lawfully conducted, but he questioned their right to impose the closed shop principle.

The resolution adopted by the Indiana operators in session at the Congress hotel, referred to the fact that many mines are shut down and others are operating on a part time basis. It indicated that Indiana mined in 1921 only 37.7 per cent of the coal capacity operation would have produced.

PLAYS DETECTIVE AT AUTO SHOW TO TRAP EX-HUSBAND

Mrs. Katherine Whipple has attended the automobile show every night since its opening. Her interest, however, was not in the purchase of a new car. She was looking for a burglar.

Formerly with the law firm of Allen, Ward and Whipple, and now vice president and general manager of an Indianapolis automobile agency.

Last night she found her ex-husband, Attorney Merrick C. Whipple, followed him to his rooms at the Congress hotel.

Deputy Sheriff Otto Gnewuch was hastily summoned to serve a warrant for Whipple's arrest on the charge that he had failed to pay $1,000 alimony. He was released on bond and ordered to appear for a hearing before Judge Thomas J. Lynch.

Arrest Young Woman as Daring 'Burglar Maid'

Mrs. Emma Klingberg, 19 years old, 549 Taylor street, was arrested last night as a "burglar maid" who has plundered numerous homes in the last five months.

SCHAEFFER'S BAD HAND CALLS OFF BURMAN FIGHT

TRIBUNE DECISIONS

Decisions of The Tribune boxing representatives are:

At La Salle-Gusto Delg beat Jack Duffy (10); Ed Cotton and Sammy Wade, a contest; Noll Wilson and Kid Shug, draw (6); Ed Roanick knocked out Young Murray (11).

At Madison-Tommy Gibbons stopped Pat McCarthy (4).

At Omaha-Morris Schaeffer and Frankie Murphy, draw (10); Frankie Welch beat Gus Bloomberg (10).

At Newark, N. J.-Sallier Freedman beat Benny Cohen (12).

The proposed ten round bout between Frankie Schaeffer and Joe Burman, scheduled to take place tonight in Kenosha, has been indefinitely postponed because of an old injury to Frankie's right hand.

When Walter H. Linger, secretary of the Wisconsin state boxing commission, examined Frankie last Wednesday he twisted the hand and wrist in such a manner that the old injury was aggravated, and yesterday the hand was swollen twice its normal size. An examination by a competent physician showed no bones are broken and the soreness is the result of an irritated bruise which Frankie has carried since last summer.

To Examine Hand Again.

Secretary Linger was notified over the long distance telephone, and will be in Chicago today or tomorrow to look over the hand. When he examined Schaeffer's hand last Wednesday the commissioner asserted he would look over the weapon again today at weighing-in time.

According to Promoter Wagner the Burman-Schaeffer match has been postponed, but a show will be held in Kenosha next week, with Burman one of the principals in the main bout. Efforts are being made to get either Sammy Mandell or Rockford or Jack Sharkey of New York to trade punches with the west side. Sharkey is now in Chicago and training at Peretti's for a match with Earl McArthur at Sioux City Feb. 13.

Tickets Good for Next Show.

Promoter Wagner also stated that fight fans who have purchased tickets for the Burman-Schaeffer match may either get their money back or retain the tickets for next week's show.

Charley White, local lightweight, yesterday announced his proposed ten round bout with Jimmy Friesette at Worcester, Feb. 10 has been called off because of an injury to Friesette's hand. White asserted his fifteen round bout with Willie Jackson of New York will be decided in Madison Square Garden on Feb. 20.

HARRISON FIVES SPLIT TWO GAMES WITH MARSHALL

Harrison Tech and Marshall split a pair of fast western section games in the Chicago league series. Harrison heavies winning, 14 to 11, and Marshall lights coping, 12 to 6. Glimbler led Harrison heavies with three baskets and six free throws, while Shapiro's two baskets were the feature of the Marshall lights' scoring. Heavy lineup:

HARRISON (14)	MARSHALL (11)
Glimbler, 14	Shapiro, 6
Shapiro, 6	Glimbler, 14
Hardy, 10	Shapiro, 6

FREBERG-PLESTINA TO CLASH ON MAT FEB. 14

The middleweight wrestlers having been given a chance to show what they could do under the White system of round wrestling, Doc Krone will give the heavyweights a chance on Feb. 14 at the Ashland Boulevard auditorium. Marin Plestina and John Freberg have been matched to appear on that date in fifteen round engagement.

Both Freberg and Plestina are contenders for the heavy weight title held by Stanislaus Zbyszko. The two on Jan. 13 wrestled to a draw in one hour and thirty-nine minutes. It was generally believed before that match that Plestina outclassed his Norwegian rival, but the outcome of the bout went far to dispel the belief in the minds of the fans.

Krone is arranging a preliminary card of probably two shorter bouts, which will be announced within a day or two when the men are signed. Tickets will be put on sale shortly.

ZBYSZKO TO MEET ARMOS LAITINEN

Stanislaus Zbyszko, heavyweight wrestling champion, will defend his mat title against Armos Laitinen of Finland in the main attraction of the Knights of Pythias show, to be held at the Coliseum on Feb. 22. This match was definitely closed last night by the De Molay lodge of the K. of P. Laitinen is more or less of a newcomer, but is a sensation. In America two years he has yet to taste defeat. Recently he wrestled Zbyszko and gained one fall from the Pole. During the struggle for the second down, Armos injured an arm and had to give up.

Carl Furness May Meet Lou Talaber on Mat Again

Because of his showing against Lou Talaber in the semi-windup to the Meyers-Klonis match last week, efforts are being made to rematch Carl Furness with the west side middleweight.

GASOLINE ALLEY—BRING ON YOUR KNIVES AND FORKS

STRAIGHT FROM THE SHOULDER

A LOUD wall comes out of Du-buque, Ia., home of Heinie Engel, middleweight wrestler, that Johnny Meyers, who claims the championship, is sidestepping a match. Engel's manager writes that Heinie's chief claim to recognition by the local mat star lies in the fact that his record contains victories over practically every middleweight of note. Among the crowd, the letter says, are the names of men Meyers never has defeated.

Engel in his last bout with Meyers won the only fall recorded. The letter says, "Engel had the champion practically out when the accident (both men fell out of the ring, and Engel had to go to the hospital for repairs after the referee ruled that it was 'no contest') occurred, and it was very evident to every one present that the championship was literally snatched from his hands."

"We are willing to sign a blank agreement to wrestle for the title. We will concede every demand and will abide by the decision of the sports writers of Chicago and members of the athletic commission with reference to the fairness of the terms offered by the champion."

"We are not out for the money in this bout. All we desire is a chance at the crown. And we are asking an early date because we fear that Meyers may lose the championship to some one far removed from our territory and more difficult therefore to force into a match."

Ed White, manager of the champion, has been quoted as saying that an Engel-Meyers match would not bring out the bidders. We charge that this argument is merely an alibi by White to keep out the man he believes is dangerous."

A perusal of the news accounts of the Engel-Meyers match indicates that Engel was way out in front when he was injured. As Meyers afraid of a return match? He is champion, and it's a poor champion who will not meet all contenders. How about it, Meyers? How about it, White?

BOWEN TAKES PAIR.

Bowen basketballers took a pair of games from Calumet yesterday at Calumet gym. The bowmen winning, 34 to 6, and the lightweight coping, 21 to 13. Organ with four baskets, led the lightweight scoring. Lightweight lineup:

BOWEN (21)	CALUMET (13)
Grogan, 11	McArthur, 11
Burke, 10	Burke, 10
Hamlin, 8	Hamlin, 8
Steinberg, 7	Steinberg, 7
Sale, 6	Sale, 6
McKinley, 9	Medill, 5

KOCKLER BALKS AT PAYING N. C. A. FINE

Ernest Kockler, the Chicago Milkman, barred from the six day race starting at the Coliseum Feb. 13 until he pays a fine of $50 to the National Cycling association, can't see why he should kick in.

"I resigned from the N. C. A. before I turned professional and have the patience of Job. It may happen that if you go after crows you will get one, or if you are extra fortunate, two. You will earn them, and when tired muscles find relief beside the reading table in the evening you will count the day well spent."

Some will condemn the killing of crows because of the fact that they do destroy some kinds of injurious insects. However, when that is said, all the good qualities of the crow have been told.

Kockler evidently doesn't know Harmon well. Here is what Harmon says: "These bike riders will pay their own fines. This is going to be a race, and not any friendly pink tea. I want Kockler and Ray Eaton in the race, but Kockler is going to pay that $50 fine and Eaton the $250 fine to the N. C. A. before they start."

Harmon notified Eaton at the latter's home in East Orange, N. J., yesterday that unless Eaton got himself reinstated at once he could consider himself out of the race. Eaton was fined last fall for failure to appear to ride off his tie with Frank Kramer for the American sprint championship.

J. SMITH CHOSEN TO OPEN TOURNEY OF STAR BOWLERS

Although the complete schedule for the world's classic bowling tournament, which will be held in the Coliseum Annex Feb. 9 to 24, has not been completed, official announcement has been made that Jimmy Smith of Milwaukee will be on the opening night's schedule. Smith has been considered for many years one of the great bowling attractions the game has ever known. Billy Rusch, one of the best of the Chicago entrants, has been drawn to oppose the Great City star.

The schedule of the tournament will comprise a total of twenty-three rounds, each round consisting of twelve matches between the twenty-four players. A special scoring system, deciding averages as well as games won and lost, will determine the best individual match game bowler of the world.

Woods and Waters BOB BECKER

NOW IS THE TIME TO TAKE UP CROW SHOOTING, SAYS PINKLEY.

With the hunting season over, we who love the crack of the gun and the joy of bringing home the bacon can find much excellent sport among the so-called "outlaws" of the feathered world. The list of outlaws is headed by that assy little pest, the English sparrow, which, in my opinion, is not much as a means of furnishing sport.

Next comes the crow. If you want all the thrill of stalking and have the patience of Job it may happen that if you go after crows you will get one, or if you are extra fortunate, two. You will earn them, and when tired muscles find relief beside the reading table in the evening you will count the day well spent.

Some will condemn the killing of crows because of the fact that they do destroy some kinds of injurious insects. However, when that is said, all the good qualities of the crow have been told.

FARM AND GARDEN BY EDWIN RUSCH

AN EGG IS AN EGG, BUT—THERE'S A DIFFERENCE.

GRADUAL changes that are taking place in the system of marketing eggs and the development of the egg exhibits at poultry shows during recent years have stimulated interest in the grading of eggs among the egg producers and consumers. With the shipment of eggs by parcel post direct from producer to consumer and the use of cooperative shipping associations by farmers and suburban flock owners, more and more fault is being found in the old traditional method of marketing eggs by the dozen.

Until recently the average egg producer has paid little or no attention to the size, color, shape, and general quality of the eggs he sells. Nor has the average cook been concerned a great deal about whether an egg weighed more or less than two ounces, but since eggs reached the dollar mark a few months ago the average kitchen shopper has been paying more attention to the size of the eggs she buys.

Cooperative shipping associations have demonstrated the value of grading eggs. A few days ago a cooperative egg producers' association in this state sent a shipment of eggs to New York, and by grading them the farmers received $2 a case more than the local market price after all expenses were paid.

As a producer or consumer of eggs what do you think about the idea of selling eggs by weight instead of by the dozen? Send your opinion to the Farm and Garden department of The Tribune.

DIEGEL, BOWLER, MEDAL WINNERS IN TEXAS GOLF

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 2.—Leo Diegel, New Orleans professional, paired with J. L. Bowler of San Antonio, today won the amateur-professional medal play, the first event of the Texas open championship tournament over the Brackenridge Municipal links here. Bob McDonald, Chicago, and F. J. Jordan, San Antonio, were second.

Diegel and Bowler turned in a best ball score of 68 on a course with a par of 71. McDonald turned in a score of 69, which also proved to be the best ball score for his team.

Diegel won first prize of $100, while his teammate will be awarded a gold medal. McDonald won $75 and his partner a silver medal.

SOX MAY TRADE STRUNK TO GET PITCHING TALENT

Talk of a deal whereby Amos Strunk, outfielder of the Chicago White Sox, may go to the New York Yankees was renewed yesterday about the baseball rialto. It was said that a three cornered deal might be arranged shortly whereby the Yankees will obtain pitching talent from one of the other clubs in the league in exchange for some of their players, or by purchase, and then complete the deal by sending the pitchers to President Comiskey for Strunk.

It is well known that Comiskey wants pitchers, and also that he could spare Strunk providing the Yankees are successful in getting the twirler to complete the deal.

AMATEUR BOXING RESULTS.

A capacity house witnessed the amateur boxing bouts held at Peretti's loop gym last night. The winners were presented with gold medals. The results were as follows:

Gene Puma drew with Ed O'Brien, four rounds, 100 pounds; W. Johnson defeated S. Schulman, three rounds, 130 pounds; D. Morris won from B. A. Rich, three rounds, 140 pounds; M. Logan beat P. Erenio, three rounds, 125 pounds; W. Giese stopped G. Smith, two rounds, 135 pounds; G. Greenath won from J. McLaughlin, three rounds, 135 pounds; J. Mervan defeated G. Hubauer, two rounds, 135 pounds.

Front bouts will be held Saturday afternoon and the following Thursday night gold medals will be awarded the winners.

Believes Two Men Innocent

The following opinion was given by Byron J. Lambert, chairman of the board of directors of the Chicago Athletic Association, in a statement made to the press after the verdict in the case of the two men charged with the murder of George Jackson, a well-known professional football player, was announced.

"The members of all our teams are innocent. We have no reason to believe that any member of our team has knowingly participated in any definite information to show professionalism is being practiced by any of our men in such action at once as the demands. Investigation into the matter against Gordon Locke and Dave Devine was made this morning and our opinion both men are innocent."

Howard Jones, football coach of the Taylorville, Ill., team, was great full back had played a full season. Locke told the town of such name, either in Iowa.

In fact, he didn't know the man. He was so firm in his statement that the board announced that of his innocence and the matter was taken up again unless credible evidence is presented.

ATHLETES' CLEAR SKIRTS OF "PRO" DIRT

S. AND W. B., '23

Will you make an appointment with the sporting editor of The Tribune and present proof of your charges? The Tribune is anxious to clear up a bad situation, regardless of the party it may hurt. Your identity will be held in confidence. All we require is the proof.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
New City, Ia., Feb. 2.—[Special.]—Professionalism has not stalked into the ranks of the University of Iowa, at least not so far as known.

On the heels of charges that Gordon Locke and Aubrey Devine, two greats who helped to carry the Hawkeye standard to a "Big Ten" grid last fall, had engaged in baseball for a financial consideration, the university athletic board called the accused on the carpet to clear up the matter.

From Devine the dignitaries heard that the athlete not only had never engaged in pro sports, but never even played baseball since from the corner lot. Aubrey nursed a laugh from the board members by saying that when a kid of 10 years he had engaged off 50 cents for winning a race at a Fourth of July celebration.

Locke Clears Up His Case.
The charge against Locke looked a little serious when first brought because of the fact that he readily admitted having played with the town team at Kansasville, Ia., last summer. He said he received no compensation, and this was verified when Athletic Director Edward Jones called the Kansasville promoter on the phone. The latter insisted the Kansasville aggregation was in no sense a semi-pro venture.

The charge against Locke, alleged to have been made by Grover Hoover, coach of the Taylorville, Ill., team, was that the great full back had played at Garden City last season. Locke told the athletic board that he never had been in town of such name, either in Illinois or Iowa.

In fact, he didn't know they existed. He was so firm in his statements that the board announced itself convinced of his innocence and the matter will not be taken up again unless some tangible evidence is presented.

Believes Two Men Innocent.
The following opinion was given out by Byron J. Lambert, chairman of the athletic board, after the two athletes had been told to return to college:

"The members of our team have signed the conference statement of eligibility. We have no reason to believe that any member of any team has knowingly perjured himself. If any definite information tending to show professionalism is furnished us regarding any of our men we will take such action at once as the demands. Investigation into the accusation against Gordon Locke and Aubrey Devine was made this morning, and in our opinion both men are innocent."

Howard Jones, football coach as well as athletic director, placed no credence in the accusations from the moment they were brought to his attention.

Denial from Hoover.
Decatur, Ill., Feb. 2.—Grover Hoover, coach of the Taylorville Independent, denies in a statement to the Decatur review this morning that he had given an interview to a Chicago paper in which he charged Aubrey Devine, Gordon Locke of Iowa, or any other Big Ten athlete with being professional.

"I am tired of the whole mess," Hoover said, "and many of the statements charged to me the last few days have been absolutely without foundation."

Hoover Satisfies Rockne.
South Bend, Ind., Feb. 2.—Charges published in some newspapers that Grover Hoover, football coach of the Taylorville, Ill., eleven, had insinuated that Knute Rockne, Notre Dame athletic director, knew that some of his players were in the game against Taylorville, resulted today in a flash of fire with legal action threatened, but tonight the matter had been settled to the satisfaction of both mentors.

Mr. Hoover called the Notre Dame coach by telephone and explained that he made no such statement. Mr. Rockne then announced that he, of course, accepted Mr. Hoover's explanation and had dropped all plans for a libel suit which he previously had announced he would file against the Taylorville coach.

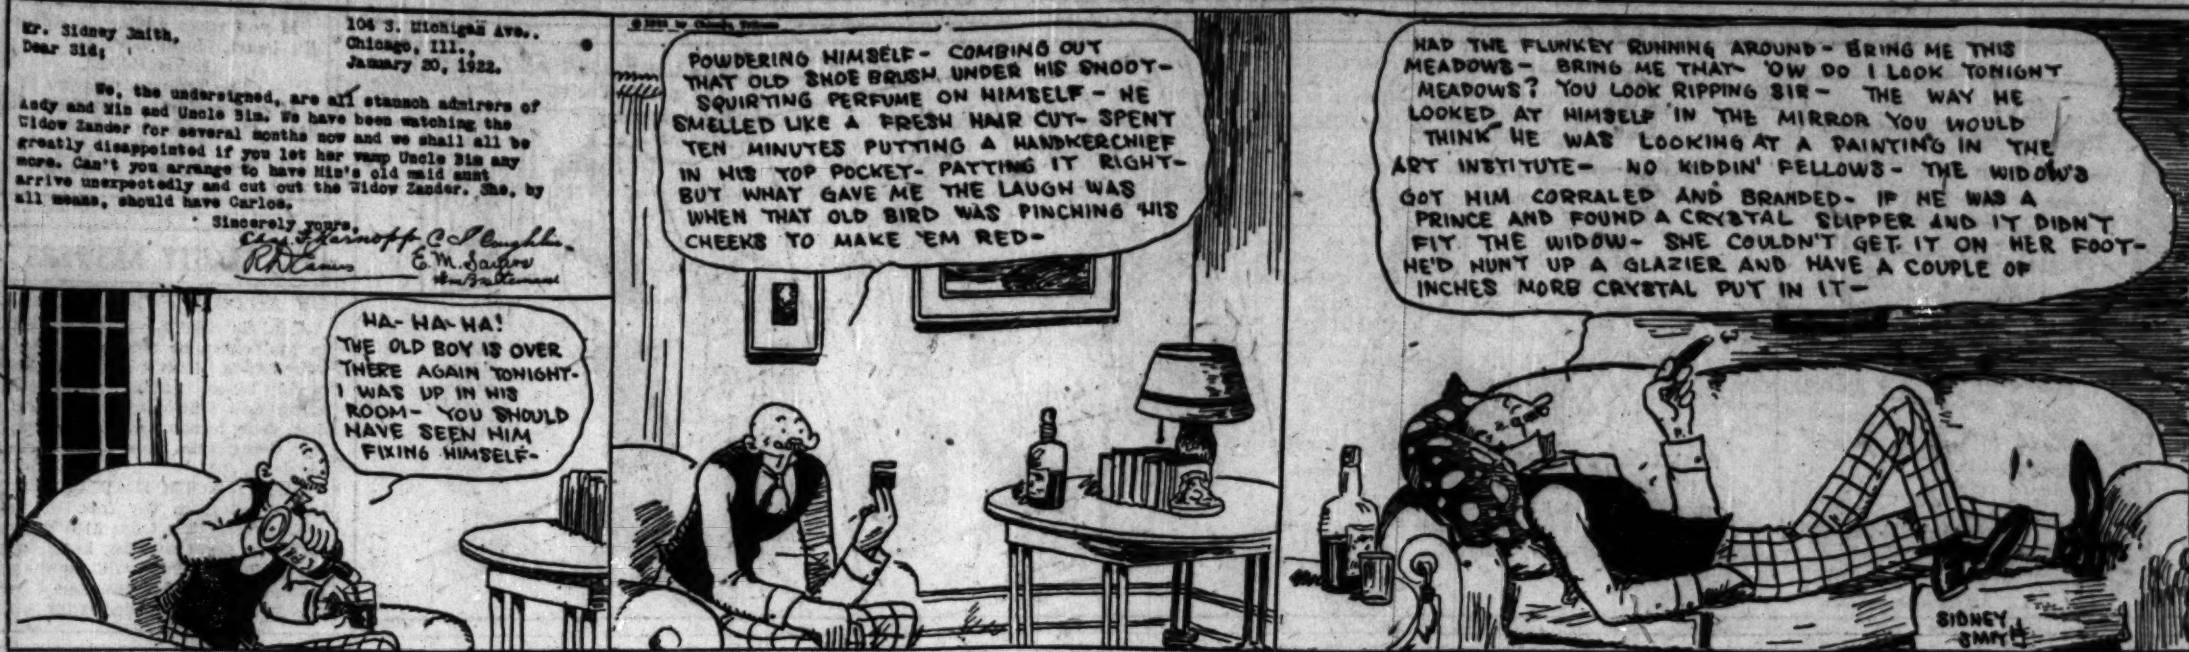

After hearing the report of Prof. W. A. Farrell sent to investigate the Taylorville-Carlisle affair, the faculty athletic board formally disqualified the eight men involved.

MRS. MALLORY IN NET FINALS
New York, Feb. 2.—Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, national women's tennis champion, today won her way into the finals of the invitation indoor tournament at Helms Casino, Brooklyn, by defeating Miss Martha Bayard of Short Hills, N. J. The score was 6-4, 6-4.

"Big Five" Basket Team Beats Whiting, 29 to 11
P. J. Carr's Big Five basketball team defeated the Whiting Red Crowns at Whiting last night, 29 to 11. The Big Five team meets the New York Nationals here at Dexter Park pavilion on Sunday.

MATCH OF HOCKEY TEAMS.
With the undisputed possession of first place in the Great Lakes Hockey League, the Chicago Roller Hockey team will meet Thursday night at Silverview rink.

ANOTHER TRIBUNE DERBY STAR

Mahlke to Place Skaters in Heats for Tribune Derbies

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.
In order to run off the annual Silver Skates Derbies of The Tribune, to be held over a six lap course on the Garfield park ice on Sunday, with as much dispatch as possible, the official list of entries has been turned over to Edward Mahlke, chief clerk of the course, who will assign the contestants to heats with the aid of his assistants.

Mahlke is one of the best known figures in the local skating world. He is secretary of the International Skating union and official handicapper of the Western Skating association. He knows the ability of most of the entrants, and his chief aim, together with that of his assistants, will be to place the good skaters in the same heats.

Assistants Well Qualified.
Harry Hahn, one of Mahlke's assistants, is a member of the board of control of the Western Skating association, and is familiar with past performances of the entrants. Walter Sonnenleiter, another clerk of the course, is director at Waters playground, and he knows how fast the playground skaters can turn the various distances.

George Sonnenleiter, another clerk, was formerly director at Corkery playground, and is now connected with the Continental and Commercial bank in the capacity of physical director.

Harry A. Olsen, another of the clerk of course corps, is secretary of the Western Skating association, and like his co-workers, knows the skaters. Otis J. Taylor and Frank Kalteux, two other members of Mahlke's committee, have been identified with ice racing for years, and are familiar with the ability of the contestants in all four Derbies.

With such a competent group of men skaters can rest assured they will be placed in heats according to their ability, and in which they will have chances to qualify for the semi-finals.

Silver Skates on Display.
The solid silver skates, which will be given to the winners of the boys' senior derby and the girls' senior derby, together with the silver plated blades to be awarded the victors in the junior derbies for boys and girls, are now on display in the windows on the Madison street side of The Tribune Building.

The complete list of entries, together with the numbers the contestants will wear on their backs, will be printed in Sunday's issue of The Tribune.

SCHOOLBOY TEAM GIVEN BANQUET
Members of the Chicago schoolboy ice skating team were guests at a dinner at the Hotel Sherman last night. The dinner followed the physical examination for the team members. Parents of the skaters met with the committee following the dinner.

The team will hold its first practice tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock on the south lagoon in Lincoln park under the direction of Theo. Gross.

STEINMETZ SKATES TO INTERNATIONAL TITLE

Saranac Lake, N. Y., Feb. 2.—William Steinmetz of Chicago won the international amateur skating title by garnering twenty more points in the closing events of the three day meet here today.

His total number of points was 100. Steinmetz won the title notwithstanding the fact that he failed to finish first in a single event today.

The 440 yard dash was won by Charles Gorman of St. John, N. B., with Steinmetz second, while the senior three mile event was won by Joe Moore of New York, who had failed to score in any of the previous events.

Charles Jewtraw of Lake Placid, who was Steinmetz's runner up with 70 points, was the victim of an accident today, although he profited by the misfortune of others yesterday. In the final heat of the 440 yard dash he was tripped by Russell Wheeler of Montreal, who fell at the first turn, but Jewtraw recovered his balance, and, although gamely trying to win a place, was outdistanced.

The Canadian skater strained a ligament in one of his legs. After Steinmetz had taken second place in the 440 yards, virtually assuring him of the title, he appeared to the spectators to content himself in the three mile race only with keeping up with Jewtraw in the rear.

The junior honors for the meet went to Chicago. Edward Reed of that city winning the 220 yard dash and mile events for 16 year olds. Ernest Cite won the championship for boys of 14 years.

Summary:
440 yard dash—Won by Charles Gorman, St. John, N. B., second, Richard Garnett, St. John, N. B., third. Time, 41.3-2.
3 mile race—Won by Joe Moore, New York; Yalmine Biela, Lake Placid, second; Richard Donovan, St. Paul, third. Time, 10:03.3-5.
10 years, one mile—Won by Edward Reed, Chicago; Lionel Norton, Lake Placid, second; Jack Derrah, Lake Placid, third. Time, 23.
16 years, 220 yard dash—Won by Edward Reed, Chicago; Lionel Norton, Lake Placid, second; Jack Derrah, Lake Placid, third. Time, 23.
14 years, 440 yards dash—Won by Ernest Graves, Saranac Lake; Carl Parody, Lake Placid, second; Carl Finch, Lake Placid, third. Time, 45.1-5.

Panther Skating Derby
Entries Close Tonight
Entries for the annual skating derby of the Chicago Panther A. C., to be held on the Humboldt park lagoon tomorrow night, close with Vernon Joe, 2724 Lehighman court, today. The event has been postponed four times, because of adverse skating conditions. The original entry list will hold for tomorrow night's races.

College Department.
Dear Wake: We Big Ten alumni down here in Evansville, Ind., on the blue (?) waters of the Ohio river have adopted The Tribune college columns as sort of second course to our breakfast.

That was startling news of the dismemberment of the Illinois football crowd. We men of Ohio state regret this. We like to see the Illinois at their best at Columbus or Urbana. (They usually are, too, Mr. Wake.) There are no better winners or no better losers in the conference 'than Illinois. More power to them in filling the gaps.

TURKEY CREEK.
The groundhog snoozed within his home the eye of groundhog day while golfers wondered of the morn—"What would the groundhog say?"

And suddenly he gave a start and awakened from his dream. Of golfers out at Turkey Creek along the winding stream; Of golfers eating lunches with the coffee steaming hot, And many tasty crusts that fell the groundhog dreamed he got. And then he yawned and stretched himself—"Tomorrow I'm on guard."

APPLEBY WINS OVER GARDNER IN CUE PLAY

New York, Feb. 2.—Francis S. Appleby of New York won the tenth game of the national class A 13-3 ball time championship tournament under the auspices of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players at the Crescent Athletic club in Brooklyn today.

The holder of the eastern title defeated Edward W. Gardner, Montclair, N. J., 300 to 185. The winner's average was 62.46 and his best runs 62, 38, and 26. Gardner's high runs were 30 and 25.

Play Wide Open Game.
Wide open billiards, with little real ball line marked the match. Appleby's best runs displayed some close nursing. In the cluster of 62 he had the ivory so closely bunched that he retired because he failed to get them out of ball.

Edgar T. Appleby of the New York Athletic club won the night match, and thereby held on with his brother as an undefeated contender in the national classic. He defeated Emil A. Renner of Youngstown, O., by 300 points to 234.

Makes a Strong Finish.
The strong finish of Edgar Appleby, who trailed for nearly half the match, marked him as of championship fiber. His average was 10.10-29 and his high runs were 48, 40, and 29. Renner's average was 8.10-28 and his best clusters 67, 29, and 27.

THREE IN FINALS FOR CUE TITLE
Ray Herschman and Richard Forrey qualified for the final tournament for the state amateur three cushion title in the playoff of a four cornered tie for second place with Kanda and Woodcock at Mussey's last night.

Herschman and Forrey will play with George W. Sunde in the finals at Champion Tuesday for the title and the diamond medal of the Illinois Billiard association.

NOTES OF THE CUE ROOMS.
Cornell defeated Neeseventh (371, 35 to 20, in the three cushion billiard tournament at Foley's. In tonight's game Barrett (331) plays Evans (331).

Heinie Grauman, who is meeting all comers at Foley's, will play King Cole of Kansas City tonight in a 125 point pocket billiard match.

Tredick (361) beats Lookbaugh (361), 50 to 47, in 8 cushions in a Chicago league three cushion game at McGarry's. Tredick had a high run of 6 while Lookbaugh ran 4. Tonight Holzer (421) plays Henry (421) at Schaffer's.

I. A. C. STARS SET FOUR NEW WORLD MARKS IN SWIM

Featured by the breaking of four world's records, three in the men's events and the women's 100 yard breast stroke, the Illinois Athletic club swimming team, developed by Coach William Bachrach, easily won the open play meet held in the I. A. C. pool last night, scoring 43 points against 7 points each for the Milwaukee Athletic club and Great Lakes A. A. teams.

Miss Edna A. Edna O'Connell, O'Connell of the I. A. C. broke the world's mark for women in the 100 yard breast stroke, making the distance in 1:28.2-5, four-fifths of a second better than the old record in that event, held by Miss Ruth Smith of the Columbus (O.) A. C.

Weismuller Sets Two Marks.
Johnny Weismuller of the tri-color club again proved his ability as a swimmer by breaking the world's records in the 50 and 220 yard swims and also stroking on the relay team, which established a new mark. Johnny lowered the record in the 50 yard swim one-fifth of a second, making the two and a half lengths of the tank in 23.2-5. Kenneth Hussagh of the C. A. A. and Perry McGilivray were the former record holders in this event.

I. A. C. Relays Set Record.
Weismuller also clipped one and one-fifth seconds off his own world's record in the 220 yard swim, establishing the new mark of 2:18.2-5. The I. A. C. relay team, composed of Abe Siegel, Buddy Wallen, Perry McGilivray, and Weismuller, took four-fifths of a second off its own world's record in the 160 yard event, making the new record of 1:16. Summaries:

SHORT COVERING CAUSES A SHARP WHEAT ADVANCE

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Reinstating of recently sold out lines by local bulls combined with heavy short covering and general stop loss buying advanced wheat prices rapidly to a new high on the present movement with May at the highest figure since Oct. 4, the finish being at the top with net gains of 2 3/4 c. Coarse grains were affected by the action of wheat, corn gaining 1/4 c. and oats 1/8 c., while rye was up 1/4 c. Foreign markets led the advance early with Liverpool up 2 3/4 c. and Buenos Aires 1 1/2 c., private cables indicating that shorts were free buyers. The outstanding short interest the world over has proven much larger than the trade expected, this being due to the prolonged decline and the lack of confidence regarding the future that has prevailed for months.

The May-July spread went to 16c, against 14 1/2 c. at one time Wednesday, the greatest difference so far, and there was considerable buying of May and selling of July.

Cash houses buy corn. Cash houses were moderate buyers of corn to remove hedges against sales to the seaboard, although a few buyers were reported below a working basis. Cash grain failed to follow the upturn in May. Country offerings to arrive were small.

Liberal sales of rye have been made to Russia of late, and there is another in the market unfilled as yet. Houses with eastern and export connections were good buyers of futures, and with the strength in wheat an advance was easily attained.

Provisions Prices Advance. Disappointing receipts of hogs and higher prices at the yards more than offset the increase in local stock for the month, and with the strength in grains provisions advanced and closed with gains of 1 1/2 c. on lard and 2 1/2 c. on short ribs. Offerings were not large, although carloaders hedged a little lard. Prices follow:

May	High	Low	Feb. 2, 1922	Feb. 3, 1922
May	10.50	10.47	10.25	10.55
July	10.75	10.72	10.52	10.82
Sept.	10.90	10.87	10.67	11.02
Nov.	11.05	11.02	10.77	11.12

CASH GRAIN NEWS

An immense export business was put through in wheat at the seaboard. Confirmation was secured of sales of 600,000 bu. Manitoba and 300,000 bu. hard winter wheat, but the day's total material exceeded this figure, the bulk of the business being in Manitoba. Corn sales were 200,000 bu. and 500,000 bu. of rye were sold to Russia. Chicago handlers sold 225,000 bu. corn to the seaboard.

Domestic shipping sales, 6,000 bu. wheat, 100,000 bu. corn, 225,000 bu. oats, and 5,000 bu. barley.

Millers were fair buyers of car lots of wheat on track at Chicago. Confirmation was secured of sales of 600,000 bu. Manitoba and 300,000 bu. hard winter wheat, but the day's total material exceeded this figure, the bulk of the business being in Manitoba. Corn sales were 200,000 bu. and 500,000 bu. of rye were sold to Russia. Chicago handlers sold 225,000 bu. corn to the seaboard.

Outside wheat markets showed more activity. St. Louis, 1 1/2 c. and Omaha, 2 1/2 c. higher. Red winter at Kansas City was up 1/2 c. and hard 2 1/2 c., with a fancy car at 1 1/2 c. advance. At Minneapolis, hard No. 1 northern sold as high as $1.14.

Cash corn prices here little changed, the advance in futures being offset by a decline of 1/4 c. as compared with the May. No. 2 grades sold at 4 1/2 c.; No. 3 grades at 4 1/4 c. and No. 4 at 4 1/2 c. under May. Receipts, 733 cars. Outside markets, 4 c. higher, with St. Louis leading.

Demand for oats rather slow and prices 1/4 c. higher. No. 2 white sold at 1 1/2 c., and No. 3 white at 1 1/4 c. under May. Receipts, 118 cars.

U. S. FINANCING CAUSES FIRING OF MONEY RATES

BY O. A. MATHER.

Operations of the government extended considerable influence yesterday in the financial markets. Absorption of $400,000,000 of the new treasury note issue necessitated some demands on the banks and to this attributed the firming of money rates this week.

This demand for funds is augmented by the fact that the first payment of federal taxes for 1921 falls due next month, while at the same time business is slowly reviving and the agricultural sections are preparing for spring work.

A further influence is the larger activity and advancing tendency of the securities markets. All these factors mean a larger demand for money and a checking of the recent steady decline in money rates.

Reserve Banks' Showing.
The weekly consolidated statement of the twelve federal reserve banks reflects particularly the government financing, with the banks holding government securities increasing $5,572,000. This resulted in total earning assets expanding $20,235,000, as total bills on hand increased only $5,077,000. Redemptions declined $12,355,000. Gold and total reserves increased $7,590,000 and $2,635,000 respectively.

Total deposits advanced $61,673,000, with increases of $37,118,000 in the member banks' reserve credits, $18,829,000 in government deposits, and $6,726,000 in other deposits. Federal reserve note circulation declined $1,944,000. The ratio of total reserves to deposit and federal reserve note liabilities combined fell to 7.5 from 7.7 per cent in the preceding week.

Credits Flow Westward.
A return flow of credits from the east to the west and south is indicated by the New York federal reserve bank's statement. The bank lost considerable gold through the central gold reserve fund, with the result that its gold and total reserves declined $41,038,000 and $43,807,000 respectively. Redemptions increased $217,000, but total bills expanded $2,316,000. Total earning assets increased $52,335,000.

Total deposits rose $15,537,000, chiefly due to the member banks' reserve credits increasing $10,023,000. Federal reserve note circulation increased $8,945,000. The ratio of total reserves to deposit and federal reserve note liabilities combined fell to 8.4 from 8.5 per cent in the preceding week.

Chicago Gold Reserve Expands.
The Chicago federal reserve bank benefited by the shift of gold in the central reserve fund, its gold and total reserves expanding $23,320,000 and $25,473,000 respectively. Redemptions declined $15,740,000. Total bills rose $10,478,000. Total earning assets declined $1,749,000. Total deposits advanced $21,500,000, principally as the result of the member banks' reserve credits increasing $15,760,000. Federal reserve note circulation declined $1,704,000. The ratio of total reserves to deposit and federal reserve note liabilities combined rose to 7.5 from 7.2 per cent in the preceding week.

RAILROAD NOTES

More than $1,000,000 will be spent by the Great Northern Railway company in double tracking two stretches of its main line in eastern Washington under contract to the U. S. Army, executive vice president of the road, announced at Seattle. Double tracking of twenty-two and one-half miles between Blaine and Lenoir will cost approximately $800,000 and second track construction between Ellensburg and Dean, approximately eight miles, $250,000. The work will begin within the next three weeks.

Condemnation proceedings against the Union Pacific road in Nebraska for the purpose of condemning rights of way necessary for state and federal aid roads on its property will be brought by the state of Nebraska through the attorney general under resolutions passed by the house and senate of the Nebraska legislature.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway company will be held in Topeka, Kas., April 27 for the election of three directors and for the construction of the lease of the California Southern railway.

Returns from eight-class 1 California bonds for December last operating income of $34,145,133. In the same month of 1920 there was a deficit for all the transportation systems.

United States railroad administration has issued notice that suits of claims for loss and damage to freight during government operation must be begun not later than Feb. 28.

Western National Grocer Companies See Better Day.
Severe losses in the first half of 1921 and a turn to profitable business in the last half are the features of the annual report of President F. C. Letts of the Western Grocery company. The financial statement shows a reduction in inventories of $2,777,423 to a total of $3,429,971 and a reduction in current liabilities of $1,727,577 and a reduction of current assets by $1,658,531 to a total of $1,822,467, with quick assets at $1,050,195.

WOOL MARKETS.
BOSTON, Mass.—The wool auction held today by the government was very successful, not a pound of wool being withdrawn and competition being very keen all about the start. Prices advanced on an average of about 25 per cent over the rates of January 1921.

LONDON, Feb. 7.—Wool auction sales were brisk today. The market was a shade below the best, but the tone was firm. Greasy merinos advanced 1/2d to 1 1/2d; scoured, 1/2d to 1 1/2d; crossbred, 1/2d to 1 1/2d; medium crossbred, 1/2d to 1 1/2d; coarse crossbred, 1/2d to 1 1/2d; and fine crossbred, 1/2d to 1 1/2d.

STERLING GOES TO $4.30; STOCK MARKET ACTIVE

The New York Times.

New York, Feb. 2.—(Special).—The continued rise in sterling, which reached $4.30 in the early hours, was again the notable incident of the financial markets today. It was accompanied this time by a substantial advance on the stock exchange.

In so far as the sterling market was influenced by other considerations than the immediate balance of exchange, the advance presumably reflected both the passage of the foreign debt refunding bill and the successful routing out of the arms conference program at Washington.

Reflects European View.
The strength of London exchange was the more striking in that it was not followed as a rule by the continental exchanges, most of which were under pressure from Europe. Nevertheless, the market's advance represents the market's appraisal of the European situation generally.

Today's advance of 1 to 3 points in a considerable number of industrial shares was again the work of professional operators. It was based on developments at Washington and scattered evidence of recovery from the industrial inertia. Such bidding up of prices as today's is an experiment to test the temper of the real investing public, and it is bolder because of the fact that actual holders of stocks are not disposed to sell.

Signs of Business Optimism.
This attitude is always accepted as a sign that the immediate financial future is regarded with discouragement and possibly with definite hopefulness. Whatever the character of the recent speculation, the market's general course has certainly reflected reversal of underlying financial sentiment from that of eight months or a year ago.

Distinct buoyancy in traction bonds was the outstanding feature in the bond market. Under active buying there rose sharply, gains of 1 to about 3 points taking place. Irregularity remained conspicuous in the domestic and foreign government sections. There was some pressure against the Liberty following the late recovery yesterday, although the 5½ cent went up nearly ½ point further. Victory notes were a trifle lower.

Indiana Hydro-Electric Power.

H. S. M. New Richmond, Wis.—The Indiana Hydro-Electric Power company was incorporated in Indiana in 1921 to develop hydro-electric power on the Tippecanoe river. It is capitalized at $5,000,000, of which $3,500,000, all common stock, is outstanding. The company is issuing $1,500,000 thirty year 7 per cent bonds, series A, secured by a first mortgage on all property, including a power plant about to be built at Norway, Ind. The Middle West Utilities company has entered into a contract for the life of these bonds to cause the output of this plant to be purchased at a price sufficient to pay all operating expenses, maintenance, taxes, depreciation, bond interest, and dividends as agreed and to provide funds to pay the sinking fund sufficient to retire $250,000 bonds each year from Dec. 1, 1926. The bonds are also guaranteed by the Central Illinois Public Service and the Interstate Public Service companies. The combined net earnings of these two companies for the year ended Oct. 31, 1921, were $2,306,000, and the balance after bond interest was $357,853. Power contracts entered into make the charges of these bonds in effect an operating expense of these companies. The bonds are more properly an investment for a business man's spare funds than one for savings.

NEWS OF THE DAY THROUGH THE EYE OF THE CAMERA

[Reproduction positively forbidden.]

FIRST POSED PICTURE OF EX-KAISER WILHELM since his exile. Snapshots taken of him at long range, from a hay wagon, two years ago, drove the former German war lord into a terrible rage. Later, when Prince Joachim killed himself, the kaiserin became ill from grief. The prince's son was sent to her to console her. Then she, with the boy, induced Wilhelm to allow the use of his own camera by Prince

Oscar to photograph him. Two snaps were made, one of the former kaiser alone, the other showing him with the kaiserin and Joachim's son. Copies of each were given to the ex-kaiser's sons and to Ludendorff and Hindenburg. Pledges were exacted from all who received them that they were never even to be shown to anybody else. Nevertheless, THE TRIBUNE here presents the pictures to its readers.

NOTED FILM DIRECTOR SLAIN. William D. Taylor, famous film director, who was found shot to death in his bungalow in Hollywood, Los Angeles, yesterday, was a yachting enthusiast. He often said he would like to spend his life on board a boat. The photograph shows him (at the left) with William Russell and Lottie Pickford, two of the many moving picture stars who have been under his direction.

MURDERED—WHY? William D. Taylor, director in chief for the Famous Players-Lasky plant, was found shot to death in his Hollywood bungalow yesterday.

HEARD FATAL SHOT. Douglas McLean, film star, who lives next door to the Taylor bungalow, heard a revolver shot, but thought it an auto backfiring.

HOW FAMOUS DIRECTOR WAS SLAIN. This photo-diagram was sent by telegram from a picture in the office of the Los Angeles Times to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE yesterday. A train with the same picture would take four days to reach Chicago. Police, reconstructing the crime believe Taylor entered the French door at the right and walked toward his desk. Apparently he heard a noise and turned sharply, facing the spot from which the picture was taken. The assassin was probably crouching in the angle formed by the piano and wall, next to the window by which Taylor entered. As the director turned he fired. The bullet entered Taylor's left side, ranging up so sharply as to make its exit at his neck. He half whirled and fell. The diagram shows a man on the spot from which it is believed the shot was fired.

EDNA PURVIANCE, next door neighbor of the slain director, returned home at midnight Wednesday and saw lights in his bungalow. She knocked on his door. At that moment his body lay within a few feet of where she stood. But, because she received no reply, she thought him out, and went away.

HAS SHE A CLEW? Mabel Normand, film star, who was the last person to see the slain director alive in his home. Her story may aid the police.

DARN IT, THEY SAW IT! Yesterday was "groundhog day," and this pair didn't even have to move their eyes to see their shadows. In fact, they couldn't move 'em, because they're stuffed, and the property of the Chicago Academy of Sciences. My, don't they look natural?

IT'S BRAIN FOOD, TOO. Two carloads of fish, 50,000 pounds, was offered to the people of Chicago yesterday at 10 cents per pound. The fish, caught in the Canadian northwest, was sold direct from the cars in an effort to break high prices attributed to retailers.

[Reproduction positively prohibited.]

EX-KAISER, KAISERIN, AND GRANDSON IN EXILE. This is the second of two photographs the former war lord permitted his son, Prince Oscar, to make. Three days after it was taken (last April) the kaiserin, who had long been ill, suffered a relapse and within another week was dead. Bert Gural, London manager for the Keystone View company, heard of the pictures, visited the kaiser's place of exile and all of his sons in a vain effort to obtain copies. Gen. Ludendorff, who, with Gen. Hindenburg, was the only one outside the family to have copies, finally sold his for 1,000,000 German paper marks, or $470 at the then rate of exchange.

MUCH WORK, LITTLE LOOT. Safeblowers drilled the hole, through which Miss Bada Steinwell may be seen, into the vault of the Argo State bank yesterday. The safe at the left contained $50,000. The robbers were frightened away by a scrubwoman before they could blow it open and got only $1,000 in silver.

STARTING ALL EVEN. When Herbert R. Crane, St. Charles millionaire, refused to pay her $70,000 back alimony because she had some household goods from his Rose Farm home, Mrs. Elida Pina Crane shipped them from New York. They were dumped at the farm in the rain Wednesday and left to rot. Next Monday Mrs. Crane will sue for the money.
